Investment strategies, investment selection, asset allocation, portfolio monitoring and the overall investment program will be based on the above factors. The Client will authorize FFD discretionary authority to execute selected investment program transactions as stated within the Investment Advisory Agreement.

FFD shall have authority in its sole discretion to:

1. Direct the Custodian to invest and reinvest or sell the Account assets in common and preferred stocks, bonds, debentures, notes, mutual fund shares, exchange traded funds, and options.
2. Direct the Custodian to exercise or abstain from exercising any options, privileges or rights held as part of the account.
3. Render to Client at least quarterly a written statement of the investments of the Account. This statement may come directly from the Custodian.

Clients always have the option to purchase investment products that FFD recommends through other brokers or agents that are not affiliated with us.

As part of the recommendations provided, Clients who have assets under management over $500,000 held with FFD may have a financial plan completed at no additional charge. This may include but is not limited to a thorough review of all applicable services such as Financial Goal Development, Net Worth Analysis, Cash Flow Analysis, Education Planning, Investment Planning, Tax Planning, Retirement Savings & Income Planning, Risk Management & Insurance Planning and Legacy Planning. If a conflict of interest exists between the interests of FFD and the interests of the Client, the Client is under no obligation to act upon FFD's recommendation. If the Client elects to act on any of the recommendations, the Client is under no obligation to effect the transaction through FFD. This service will be provided at no additional cost to the Client.

ERISA PLAN SERVICES

FFD provides service to qualified retirement plans including 401(k) plans, 403(b) plans, pension and profit-sharing plans, cash balance plans, and deferred compensation plans. FFD may act as 3(38) advisor:

ERISA 3(38) Investment Manager. FFD can also act as an ERISA 3(38) Investment Manager in which it has discretionary management and control of a given retirement plan's assets. FFD would then become solely responsible and liable for the selection, monitoring and replacement of the plan's investment options.

1. Fiduciary Services are:

- FFD has discretionary authority and will make the final decision regarding the initial selection, retention, removal and addition of investment options in accordance with the Plan's investment policies and objectives.
- Assist the Client with the selection of a broad range of investment options consistent with ERISA Section 404(c) and the regulations thereunder.
- Assist the Client in the development of an investment policy statement ("IPS"). The IPS establishes the investment policies and objectives for the Plan.
- Provide discretionary investment advice to the Plan Sponsor with respect to the selection of a qualified default investment alternative for participants who are automatically enrolled in the Plan or who have otherwise failed to make investment elections. The Client retains the sole responsibility to provide all notices to the Plan participants required under ERISA Section 404(c) (5).

2. Non-fiduciary Services are:

- Assist in the education of Plan participants about general investment information and the investment alternatives available to them under the Plan. Client understands the FFD's assistance in education of the Plan participants shall be consistent with and within the scope of the Department of Labor's definition of investment education (Department of Labor Interpretive Bulletin 96-1). As such, the FFD is not providing fiduciary advice as defined by ERISA to the Plan participants. FFD will not provide investment advice concerning the prudence of any investment option or combination of investment options for a particular participant or beneficiary under the Plan.
- Assist in the group enrollment meetings designed to increase retirement plan participation among the employees and investment and financial understanding by the employees.

FFD may provide these services or, alternatively, may arrange for the Plan's other providers to offer these services, as agreed upon between FFD and Client.

3. FFD has no responsibility to provide services related to the following types of assets ("Excluded Assets"):

- Employer securities;
- Real estate (except for real estate funds or publicly traded REITs);

- Other hard-to-value or illiquid securities or property.

Excluded Assets will not be included in calculation of Fees paid to FFD on the ERISA Agreement. Specific services will be outlined in detail to each plan in the 408(b)2 disclosure.

As an investment adviser registered under the Securities Exchange Commission and other applicable federal and state securities laws, the Adviser has a fiduciary duty, as an investment adviser, to act in the best interest of the Client. While the Adviser may have specific responsibilities under ERISA to disclose its ERISA fiduciary services separately from

However, for assets such as alternative investments where a fee is charged and the custodian does not price the security, the asset may be priced by the provider of the asset according to their pricing policy or may also involve independent pricing services for assets that are priced in that manner. Illiquid assets such as alternative investments will not be charged an ongoing management fee. FFD itself, does not price any investment or security for which it charges a management fee or that is included in the portfolio return.

Clients can choose to pay for assets under management fee via the following methods:

External Compensation for the Sale of Securities to Clients

FFD does not receive any external compensation for the sale of securities to Clients, nor do any of the investment advisor representatives of FFD.

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

Sharing of Capital Gains

Fees are not based on a share of the capital gains or capital appreciation of managed securities.

FFD does not use a performance-based fee structure because of the conflict of interest. Performance based compensation may create an incentive for FFD to recommend an investment that may carry a higher degree of risk to the Client.

Item 7: Types of Clients

Description

FFD generally provides investment advice to individuals, high net worth individuals, corporations or business entities.

Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

Account Minimums

FFD does not require a minimum to open an account.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

FFD uses Modern Portfolio Theory to construct investment portfolios for clients. This involves identifying equity asset classes which when combined are expected to decrease the risk level of a portfolio and/or increase the expected return. For example, adding international equity asset classes to a portfolio of US equities may decrease the risk level of the portfolio over the long-term due in additional diversification. In addition, adding value equities to an equity portfolio may increase the expected return of the portfolio over the long-term. Fixed income asset classes are chosen to provide stability to a client's portfolio. Mutual funds and/or exchange traded funds (ETFs) are chosen to represent a particular asset class.

In developing a financial plan for a Client, FFD's analysis may include Financial Goal Development, Net Worth Analysis, Cash Flow Analysis, Education Planning, Investment Planning, Tax Planning, Retirement Savings & Income Planning, Risk Management & Insurance Planning and Legacy Planning. Based on the information gathered, a detailed strategy is tailored to the Client's specific situation.

The main sources of information include long-term data and research on various asset classes.

Investment Strategy

The investment strategy for a specific Client is based upon the objectives stated by the Client during consultations. The Client may change these objectives at any time by providing written notice to FFD. Each Client executes a Client profile form or similar form that documents their objectives and their desired investment strategy.

Other strategies may include long-term purchases and short-term purchases.

Security Specific Material Risks

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks and should discuss these risks with FFD:

- Market Risk: The prices of securities held by mutual funds in which Clients invest may decline in response to certain events taking place around the world, including those directly involving the companies whose securities are owned by a fund; conditions affecting the general economy; overall market changes; local, regional or global political, social or economic instability; and currency, interest rate and commodity price fluctuations. Investors should have a long-term perspective and be able to tolerate potentially sharp declines in market value.
- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will buy more than a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.

- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Management Risk: FFD's investment approach may fail to produce the intended results. If FFD's assumptions regarding the performance of a specific asset class or fund are not realized in the expected time frame, the overall performance of the Client's portfolio may suffer.
- Equity Risk: Equity securities tend to be more volatile than other investment choices. The value of an individual mutual fund or ETF can be more volatile than the market as a whole. This volatility affects the value of the Client's overall portfolio. Small- and mid-cap companies are subject to additional risks. Smaller companies may experience greater volatility, higher failure rates, more limited markets, product lines, financial resources, and less management experience than larger companies. Smaller companies may also have a lower trading volume, which may disproportionately affect their market price, tending to make them fall more in response to selling pressure than is the case with larger companies.
- Fixed Income Risk: The issuer of a fixed income security may not be able to make interest and principal payments when due. Generally, the lower the credit rating of a security, the greater the risk that the issuer will default on its obligation. If a rating agency gives a debt security a lower rating, the value of the debt security will decline because investors will demand a higher rate of return. As nominal interest rates rise, the value of fixed income securities held by a fund is likely to decrease. A nominal interest rate is the sum of a real interest rate and an expected inflation rate.
- Investment Companies Risk: When a Client invests in open end mutual funds or ETFs, the Client indirectly bears their proportionate share of any fees and expenses payable directly by those funds. Therefore, the Client will incur higher expenses, which may be duplicative. In addition, the Client's overall portfolio may be affected by losses of an underlying fund and the level of risk arising from the investment practices of an underlying fund (such as the use of derivatives). ETFs are also subject to the following risks: (i) an ETF's shares may trade at a market price that is above or below their net asset value or (ii) trading of an ETF's shares may be halted if the listing exchange's officials deem such action appropriate, the shares are de-listed from the exchange, or the activation of market-wide "circuit breakers" (which are tied to large decreases in stock prices) halts stock trading generally. FFD has no control over the risks taken by the underlying funds in which Client invests.
- Long-term purchases: Long-term investments are those vehicles purchased with the intention of being held for more than one year. Typically, the expectation of the investment is to increase in value so that it can eventually be sold for a profit. In addition, there may be an expectation for the investment to provide income. One of the biggest risks associated with long-term investments is volatility, the fluctuations in the financial markets that can cause investments to lose value.

- Short-term purchases: Short-term investments are typically held for one year or less. Generally there is not a high expectation for a return or an increase in value. Typically, short-term investments are purchased for the relatively greater degree of principal protection they are designed to provide. Short-term investment vehicles may be subject to purchasing power risk — the risk that your investment's return will not keep up with inflation. Additionally, frequent trading can affect investment performance, particularly through increased brokerage and other transaction costs and taxes.
- Trading risk: Investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal. There is no assurance that the investment objective of any fund or investment will be achieved.

The affiliated persons (affiliated persons include employees and/or independent contractors) of FFD have committed to a Code of Ethics (“Code”). The purpose of our Code is to set forth standards of conduct expected of FFD affiliated persons and addresses conflicts that may arise. The Code defines acceptable behavior for affiliated persons of FFD. The Code reflects FFD and its supervised persons’ responsibility to act in the best interest of their Client.

One area which the Code addresses is when affiliated persons buy or sell securities for their personal accounts and how to mitigate any conflict of interest with our Clients. We do not allow any affiliated persons to use non-public material information for their personal profit or to use internal research for their personal benefit in conflict with the benefit to our Clients.

FFD’s policy prohibits any person from acting upon or otherwise misusing non-public or inside information. No advisory representative or other affiliated person, officer or director of FFD may recommend any transaction in a security or its derivative to advisory Clients or engage in personal securities transactions for a security or its derivatives if the advisory representative possesses material, non-public information regarding the security.

FFD’s Code is based on the guiding principle that the interests of the Client are our top priority. FFD’s officers, directors, advisors, and other affiliated persons have a fiduciary duty to our Clients and must diligently perform that duty to maintain the complete trust and confidence of our Clients. When a conflict arises, it is our obligation to put the Client’s interests over the interests of either affiliated persons or the company.

The Code applies to “access” persons. “Access” persons are affiliated persons who have access to non-public information regarding any Clients’ purchase or sale of securities, or non-public information regarding the portfolio holdings of any reportable fund, who are involved in making securities recommendations to Clients, or who have access to such recommendations that are non-public.

FFD will provide a copy of the Code of Ethics to any Client or prospective Client upon request.

Investment Recommendations Involving a Material Financial Interest and Conflict of Interest

FFD and its affiliated persons do not recommend to Clients securities in which we have a material financial interest.

Advisory Firm Purchase of Same Securities Recommended to Clients and Conflicts of Interest

FFD and its affiliated persons may buy or sell securities that are also held by Clients. In order to mitigate conflicts of interest such as trading ahead of Client transactions, affiliated persons are required to disclose all reportable securities transactions as well as provide FFD with copies of their brokerage statements.

The Chief Compliance Officer of FFD is Nathan J. Ricks. He reviews all trades of the affiliated persons each quarter. The personal trading reviews ensure that the personal trading of affiliated persons does not affect the markets and that Clients of the firm receive preferential treatment over associated persons’ transactions.

Client Securities Recommendations or Trades and Concurrent Advisory Firm Securities Transactions and Conflicts of Interest

FFD does not maintain a firm proprietary trading account and does not have a material financial interest in any securities being recommended and therefore no conflicts of interest exist. However, affiliated persons may buy or sell securities at the same time they buy or sell securities for Clients. In order to mitigate conflicts of interest such as front running, affiliated persons are required to disclose all reportable securities transactions as well as provide FFD with copies of their brokerage statements.

The Chief Compliance Officer of FFD is Nathan J. Ricks. He reviews all employee trades each quarter. The personal trading reviews ensure that the personal trading of affiliated persons does not affect the markets and that Clients of the firm receive preferential treatment over associated persons' transactions.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

Factors Used to Select Custodians for Client Transactions

FFD may recommend the use of a particular broker-dealer such as TD Ameritrade Institutional is a Division of TD Ameritrade, Inc., Member FINRA/SIPC ("TD Ameritrade"), an unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealer and FINRA member or may utilize a broker-dealer of the Client's choosing. FFD will select appropriate brokers based on a number of factors including but not limited to their relatively low transaction fees and reporting ability. FFD relies on its broker to provide its execution services at the best prices available. Lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources. Clients pay for any and all custodial fees in addition to the advisory fee charged by FFD.

FFD participates in the TD Ameritrade Institutional program. TD Ameritrade is an independent SEC-registered broker-dealer and is not affiliated with FFD. TD Ameritrade offers to independent investment Advisors services which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance and settlement of transactions. FFD receives some benefits from TD Ameritrade through its participation in the program. (Please see the disclosure under Item 14).

- Directed Brokerage

In circumstances where a Client directs FFD to use a certain custodian, FFD still has a fiduciary duty to its Clients. The following may apply with Directed Brokerage: FFD's inability to negotiate commissions, to obtain volume discounts, there may be a disparity in commission charges among Clients and conflicts of interest arising from brokerage firm referrals. The firm may be unable to achieve most favorable execution of client transactions, and this practice may cost clients more money.

- Best Execution

Investment advisors who manage or supervise Client portfolios have a fiduciary obligation of best execution. The determination of what may constitute best execution and price in the execution of a securities transaction by a custodian involves a number of considerations and is subjective. Factors affecting brokerage selection include the overall direct net economic result to the portfolios, the efficiency with which the transaction is effected, the ability to affect the transaction where a large block is involved, the operational facilities of the custodian, the value of an ongoing relationship with such custodian and the financial strength and stability of the custodian. The firm does not receive any portion of the trading fees.

- Soft Dollar Arrangements

The Securities and Exchange Commission defines soft dollar practices as arrangement under which products or services other than execution services are obtained by FFD from or through a custodian in exchange for directing Client transactions to the custodian. As permitted by Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, FFD receives economic benefits as a result of commissions generated from securities transactions by the custodian from the accounts of FFD. These benefits include both proprietary research from the custodian and other research written by third parties.

A conflict of interest exists when FFD receives soft dollars. This conflict is mitigated by the fact that FFD has a fiduciary responsibility to act in the best interest of its Clients and the services received are beneficial to all Clients.

FFD utilizes the services of custodians. Economic benefits are received by FFD which would not be received if FFD did not give investment advice to Clients. These benefits may include: A dedicated trading desk, a dedicated service group dedicated to FFD's accounts, ability to conduct "block" Client trades, electronic download of trades, balances and positions, duplicate and batched Client statements, and the ability to have advisory fees directly deducted from Client accounts.

- Brokerage for Client Referrals

FFD does not receive client referrals from any custodian or third party in exchange for using that broker-dealer or third party.

Aggregating Securities Transactions for Client Accounts

FFD will typically manage each account separately, and therefore, does not aggregate purchases and sales and other transactions. If orders are not aggregated, some clients purchasing securities around the same time may receive a less favorable price than other clients which may cost clients more money.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

Schedule for Periodic Review of Client Accounts or Financial Plans and Advisory Persons Involved

Account reviews are performed at least annually by one of the Investment Advisor Representatives at FFD. Reviews of Client accounts include, but are not limited to, a review of Client documented risk tolerance, adherence to account objectives, investment time horizon, and suitability criteria. Accounts are reviewed for rebalancing and tax-loss harvesting opportunities at least quarterly.

Financial Plans may be updated every six months for Clients with over $500,000 invested with us or for Clients who pay an ongoing financial planning fee. For Clients who purchase a Financial Plan, FFD recommends that they are updated at least every three years.

Review of Client Accounts on Non-Periodic Basis

Other conditions that may trigger a review of Clients' accounts are changes in the tax laws, new investment information, and changes in a Client's own situation.

Content of Client Provided Reports and Frequency

Clients receive monthly account statements from FFD's custodian. Clients have access to trade confirmations of each transaction in their account(s).

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Economic Benefits Provided to the Advisory Firm from External Sources and Conflicts of Interest

As disclosed under Item 12 above, FFD participates in TD Ameritrade's institutional customer program and FFD may recommend TD Ameritrade to Clients for custody and brokerage services. There is no direct link between FFD's participation in the program and the investment advice it gives to its Clients, although FFD receives economic benefits through its participation in the program that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors. These benefits include the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate Client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving FFD participants; access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to Client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from Client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for Client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds and ETFs with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to FFD by third party vendors.

TD Ameritrade may also have paid for business consulting and professional services received by FFD's related persons. Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program may benefit FFD but may not benefit its Client accounts. These products or services may assist FFD in managing and administering Client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. Other services made available by TD Ameritrade are intended to help FFD manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by FFD or its personnel through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of its fiduciary duties to Clients, FFD endeavors at all times to put the interests of its Clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by FFD or its related persons in and of itself creates a conflict of interest and may indirectly influence the FFD's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services.

Advisory Firm Payments for Client Referrals

FFD does not compensate for Client referrals.

Item 15: Custody

Account Statements

All assets are held at qualified custodians, which means the custodians provide account statements directly to Clients at their address of record at least quarterly. Clients are urged to compare the account statements received directly from their custodians to any documentation or reports prepared by FFD.

FFD is deemed to have constructive custody because advisory fees are directly deducted from Client's accounts by the custodian on behalf of FFD.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

Discretionary Authority for Trading

FFD requires discretionary authority to manage securities accounts on behalf of Clients. FFD has the authority to determine, without obtaining specific Client consent, the securities to be bought or sold, and the amount of the securities to be bought or sold.

FFD allows Clients to place certain restrictions, as outlined in the Client's Investment Policy Statement or similar document. Such restrictions could include only allowing purchases of socially conscious investments, where available. These restrictions must be provided to FFD in writing.

The Client approves the custodian to be used and the commission rates paid to the custodian. FFD does not receive any portion of the transaction fees or commissions paid by the Client to the custodian.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

Proxy Votes

FFD does not vote proxies on securities. Clients are expected to vote their own proxies. The Client will receive their proxies directly from the custodian of their account or from a transfer agent.

Item 18: Financial Information

Balance Sheet

A balance sheet is not required to be provided because FFD does not serve as a custodian for Client funds or securities and FFD does not require prepayment of fees of more than $1,200 per Client and six months or more in advance.

Financial Conditions Reasonably Likely to Impair Advisory Firm's Ability to Meet Commitments to Clients

FFD has no condition that is reasonably likely to impair our ability to meet contractual commitments to our Clients.

Bankruptcy Petitions during the Past Ten Years

FFD has not had any bankruptcy petitions in the last ten years.
