Item 4 – Advisory Business

Boulay Financial Advisors, LLC (BFA) was established in 2001 by the partners of the accounting firm Boulay PLLP (Boulay) to provide investment advisory services to clients through BFA's Investment Advisor Representatives. BFA is co-owned by BFA Holdings, LLC (38% ownership) and Boulay (62% ownership). BFA Holdings, LLC is held by current Wealth Management Partners that work in and on our advisory practice every day, and include Joseph Bloodgood, Tim Beversdorf, Jay Brown, Nathan Faith, Ellen Horan, and Jon Melander.

BFA's advisory business specifically offers services that include an Investment Advisory Program, a Third-Party Managed Program and a Financial Planning Program, each of which are described in greater detail below.

INVESTMENT ADVISORY PROGRAM

Clients, with assistance of their Investment Advisor Representative, will complete an Investment Profile and provide information regarding their financial history, goals, objectives, and financial concerns. Upon receipt and analysis of a client's information, the Investment Advisor Representative and client will determine an appropriate Investment Strategy. BFA also assists clients in allocating their assets among different investment types that are deemed appropriate for reaching their objectives.

BFA has developed and maintains several Target Portfolio Allocation models that BFA has defined as ranging from conservative to aggressive. BFA's Investment Selection and Strategy Committees meet regularly to evaluate and recommend changes to the model portfolios. Portfolios may be implemented among various asset classes which contain securities consisting of, but not limited to, money market funds, mutual funds, exchange traded funds, unit investment trusts, third party money managers, individual securities, certificates of deposit and other investment vehicles that are deemed appropriate.

BFA provides regular Portfolio Reviews, which include a comparison of actual client allocations to Target Portfolio Allocations. Changes of Investment Strategy require prior approval from the client in either written or electronic format which is acknowledged by the Investment Advisory Representative.

When BFA provides investment advice to clients regarding an employee benefit plan account or individual retirement account, BFA and its investment representatives are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of ERISA and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way BFA makes money creates some conflicts with client interests, so BFA operates under a special rule that requires BFA to act in the clients' best interest and not put BFA's interest ahead of the clients' interests.

Under this special rule's provisions, BFA must:

- Meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice).
- Never put our financial interests ahead of those of the client when making recommendations (give loyal advice).
- Avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments.
- Follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in our clients' best interest.
- Charge no more than is reasonable for our services; and
- Give clients basic information about conflicts of interest.

THIRD PARTY MANAGED PROGRAMS

In certain situations, BFA uses the services of third-party managers or asset allocators to offer asset management services to clients. Such programs can assist a client in determining their risk profile and investment objectives and provide a relevant asset allocation policy and management of the account. Such programs will generally provide continuous management of the client's account and provide reporting on the performance of the account. Fees for such programs are disclosed in the third-party managers' Form ADV Part 2A.

Generally, third party management programs will have account minimums that must be met before a client may obtain the manager's services. Various managers have different management philosophies and objectives.

BFA will assist clients in evaluating their financial situation in order to help determine the suitability of a third-party manager's service. BFA will be available to answer questions that the client may have regarding their account and act as the communication conduit between the client and the manager.

Investment decisions are made by the third-party manager in accordance with the agreement between client and manager. BFA will not directly conduct any securities transactions on behalf of the client or participate directly in the selection of the securities to be purchased or sold for the client.

FINANCIAL PLANNING PROGRAM

BFA offers planning and review services that cover a client's financial, estate, tax, retirement, college-funding, and asset allocation for a fee. BFA will gather financial information and history from the client which may include retirement and financial goals, investment objectives, investment horizon, financial needs, cash flow details, education goals, savings tendencies, and other applicable financial information. Based upon a client's needs and desires, a financial plan will be prepared addressing those needs as appropriate.

Financial plans are based on the client's financial situation at the time as well as financial information disclosed by the client to BFA. Clients are advised that certain assumptions will be made with respect to interest and inflation rates and the use of past trends and performance of the market and economy. However, past performance is in no way an indication of future performance, and BFA cannot offer any guarantees or promises that a client's financial goals and objectives will be met.

Implementation of BFA's financial planning recommendations is entirely at the client's discretion. Further, it is the clients' responsibility to monitor the plan and request revisions as desired. Clients are advised that BFA does not offer any advice or guidance on property, casualty, or liability insurance needs.

Please reference Items 10, 12 and 14 for disclosure of all identified conflicts of interest related to our advisory business.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

INVESTMENT ADVISORY PROGRAM

The advisory fees payable upon initial implementation of the account may be paid by the client upon receipt of the invoice from BFA or collected directly from the account, provided the client has given BFA written authorization. Advisory fees for all subsequent periods will be charged to and collected directly from the client's account, in accordance with the Investment Advisory Agreement, unless other arrangements have been made. Advisory fees will be charged to and collected directly from the account early in the quarter and will be based on the value of the portfolio as of the last working day of the previous quarter.

Clients will be provided with access to a fee notification, which identifies the amount of the advisory fee and the value of the account. Additionally, clients will be provided with an account statement from their custodian reflecting the deduction of the advisory fee. If the account does not contain sufficient funds to pay advisory fees, BFA has limited authority to sell or redeem securities in sufficient amounts to pay advisory fees. Clients may reimburse the account for advisory fees paid to BFA, except for ERISA and IRA accounts.

Fees are negotiable and are not based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds. BFA also reserves the right to waive advisory fees on any account at the sole discretion of the Investment Advisor Representative. The fee will typically range from .60% to 1.95% based upon the size, nature, and complexity of the client relationship. While BFA does not require clients to have a minimum level of investable assets, our minimum total annual fee is $6,000. For special circumstances the minimum fee can be negotiated or established at a flat annual rate.

BFA generally has two types of fee arrangements: a blended fee arrangement and an incremental fee arrangement. Under the blended fee arrangement, the client would pay one annual blended rate with respect to the entire portfolio based on the total size of the account. Under the incremental fee arrangement, the annual rate is determined based on the incremental thresholds for the size of the account.

Fees charged individual clients are set forth in individual Investment Advisory Agreements. Clients may refer to the Investment Advisory Agreement for additional information and disclosures. Client may elect to include tax preparation services as part of their Investment Advisory Agreement. Tax preparation services are completed by Boulay PLLP and subject to additional fees that are combined for purposes of billing.

In addition to the advisory fees, clients may incur costs for custodial services, account maintenance fees, transaction fees, and other fees associated with maintaining the account. Also, depending on a particular security, trading costs could be incurred which could range from $0 to $24 per trade. BFA strives to minimize trading costs. Some funds impose short-term trading fees which can be triggered if the fund is not held long enough. Transactions which result in short-term trading fees will be avoided unless extenuating conditions exist. BFA does not share in any portion of such fees. Mutual funds, exchange-traded funds (ETFs), Separately Managed Funds (SMAs), and Unit Investment Trusts (UITs) charge management and administrative fees that are paid from the client's investment balance. These fees are not shared with BFA. Clients are encouraged to read the investment's prospectus prior to investing to understand an investment's fees.

Additional assets deposited into the account after it is opened will be charged a pro-rata fee based upon the number of days remaining in the then current calendar quarter. No fee adjustments will be made for partial withdrawals or for account appreciation or depreciation during the quarter.

Clients may terminate investment advisory services obtained from BFA, without penalty, upon written notice within five (5) business days after entering into the Investment Advisory Agreement with BFA. Clients will be responsible for any fees and charges incurred from third parties as a result of maintaining the account such as transaction fees for any securities transactions executed and account maintenance or custodial fees.

Thereafter, a client may terminate investment advisory services with 30-day's notice in either written or electronic format which is acknowledged by the Investment Advisory Representative. If a client decides to terminate the investment advisory services during the quarter, BFA is under no obligation to refund fees paid for the current quarter. Under certain circumstances, BFA may choose to waive its invoice on a pro-rata basis but is not obligated to do so.

THIRD PARTY MANAGED PROGRAMS

Advisory fees can vary depending on if the client obtained management services directly from a single manager versus multiple managers. Advisory fees and any conflicts of interest with respect to the third-party manager would be disclosed in the third-party manager's Form ADV Part 2A.

The fee charged by the third-party manager will be in addition to the fees charged by BFA. BFA fees are negotiable and are not based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds. The BFA fees would generally fall below rates, set forth in either the Maximum Blended Rate or the Maximum Blended Rate Schedules, provided above. Fees charged individual clients are set forth in individual Investment Advisory Agreements and Appendices. Clients may refer to the Investment Advisory Agreement and Appendices for additional information and disclosures.

BFA fees payable upon initial implementation of the account may be paid by the client upon receipt of the invoice from BFA or collected directly from the account, provided the client has given written authorization. BFA fees for all subsequent periods will be charged to and collected directly from the client's account, except where other arrangements are made. BFA fees will be charged to and collected directly from the account early in the quarter and will be based on the value of the portfolio as of the last working day of the previous quarter.

Clients will be provided with a fee notification that identifies the amount of the advisory fee and the value of the account. Additionally, clients will be provided with an account statement reflecting the deduction of the advisory fee. If the account does not contain sufficient funds to pay the advisory fee, BFA has limited authority to sell or redeem securities in sufficient amounts to do so. Clients may reimburse the account for advisory fees paid to BFA, except for ERISA and IRA accounts.

In addition to the advisory fees, clients may incur costs for custodial services, account maintenance fees, transaction fees, and other fees associated with maintaining an account with third party managers. Clients may also pay advisory fees to the manager of any mutual fund they purchase. Such advisory fees are not shared with BFA and are compensation to the fund-manager, except as disclosed in Item 10. Clients should read the mutual fund prospectus prior to investing.

Additional assets deposited into the Account after it is opened will be charged a pro-rata fee based upon the number of days remaining in the then current calendar quarter. No fee adjustments will be made for partial withdrawals or for account appreciation or depreciation during the quarter.

Clients may terminate investment advisory services obtained from BFA, without penalty, upon written notice within five (5) business days after entering into the Investment Advisory Agreement with BFA. Clients will be responsible for any fees and charges incurred from third parties as a result of maintaining the account such as transaction fees for any securities transactions executed and account maintenance or custodial fees.

Thereafter, a client may terminate investment advisory services with 30-day's notice in either written or electronic format which is acknowledged by the Investment Advisory Representative. If a client decides to terminate the investment advisory services during the quarter, BFA is under no obligation to refund fees paid for the current quarter. Under certain circumstances, BFA may choose to waive its invoice on a pro-rata basis but is not obligated to do so.

FINANCIAL PLANNING PROGRAM

BFA offers financial planning services on both a fixed fee and hourly fee basis. Fees are negotiable based upon the complexity of the requested services and the personnel involved, and are charged in accordance with the fee schedule below:

Fixed Fee: $6,000 to $35,000 – payable one-half (1/2) upon execution of the agreement with BFA and the balance due at the time of presentation of the plan, unless otherwise negotiated with the client. Clients may terminate the agreement with BFA and receive a full refund of any pre-paid fees for planning services at any time up to presentation of the financial plan to client.

Hourly Fee: $130 - $430 per hour – payable as invoiced by BFA. Generally, BFA will invoice clients for all time spent each month. Clients may terminate hourly services within five (5) business days after entering into the agreement without penalty. After five (5) business days of entering into the agreement, the client may terminate upon BFA's receipt of client's written notice to terminate. Clients will be responsible for any time spent by the Investment Advisor Representative in providing services or analyzing the client's situation.

Clients are advised that fees for financial planning are strictly for financial planning services. Depending on the additional services and/or products obtained to execute their financial plan, clients may pay additional fees and/or commissions for those services and products.

Please reference Items 10, 12 and 14 for disclosure of all identified conflicts of interest related to our advisory business.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

BFA does not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of the assets of a client) or side-by-side management fees.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

BFA provides portfolio management services to individuals, high net worth individuals, corporate pension and profit-sharing plans, charitable institutions, foundations, and other entities. BFA generally requires that clients have a minimum of $600,000 of assets under management to open and maintain an account with BFA. This requirement may be waived by BFA.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

BFA's investment strategy is based on the science of investing developed over decades of academic research and institutional application. BFA's actions are focused on the following factors that have a high correlation in creating a successful investment strategy.

1. Diversification – using different Asset Classes (e.g., Equity and Bond) and different classifications within them. Equity classes could include large capitalization companies, small capitalization companies, international companies, emerging markets, real estate, and others. Bonds could be comprised of corporate, government (taxable and tax-free), international and emerging markets.
2. Minimizing fees and transaction costs when possible.
3. Maximizing after-tax returns when possible.

Clients, with assistance of their Investment Advisor Representative, will complete an Investment Profile and provide information regarding their financial history, goals, objectives, and financial concerns. Upon receipt and analysis of a client's information, the Investment Advisor Representative and client will determine an appropriate Investment Strategy. A client's portfolio will often vary from the portfolio of other clients with similar objectives due to personal and financial differences such as tax sensitivity, the presence of concentrated stock positions and/or outside holdings as well as ethical or religious preferences.

Portfolios will be diversified according to the asset class percentages indicated in the selected Target Portfolio Allocation. The client and Investment Advisor Representative may choose to exclude certain asset classes from a portfolio or choose to disregard the Investment Profile for a specific Target Portfolio Allocation. Target Portfolio Allocations may be adjusted depending on market conditions and/or client profile. Specific portfolio holdings may be increased, decreased, eliminated, or added based on BFA's ongoing due diligence process. Appreciating the importance of diversification, efforts are typically made to limit any single holding to 20% or less of total holdings. BFA generally does not time the market in making major shifts to the Target Portfolio Allocations.

Depending on market conditions and the client's investment objectives, investments used by BFA in Target Portfolio Allocations may include the stock of domestic large and small companies, stocks of international and emerging market companies, real estate investment trusts, government and corporate bonds, bank certificates of deposit, commodities and any other investments reviewed and approved by the Investment Selection and Approval Committee.

Differing returns among the various asset classes could result in the asset classes becoming over or under-represented relative to the selected Target Portfolio Allocation. Rebalancing is the process of adjusting any over or under-represented funds within the asset classes back to the Target Portfolio Allocation percentages. Rebalancing may consist of buying or selling portfolio holdings and/or utilizing additional deposits to maintain the Target Portfolio Allocation. Market conditions, client profile, income taxes and trading costs will also be taken into consideration, and portfolios will be rebalanced as appropriate.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. BFA does not represent, warrant or imply that the services or methods of analysis used by BFA can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate clients from losses due to major market corrections or crashes.

All investments present the risk of loss of principal – which means the investments may be worth less when sold than the price paid for the securities. There is also the risk of losing purchasing power - which means the rate of appreciation of the investment is less than the rate of inflation.

Each type of investment has unique risk characteristics which must be considered before investing. These risks could include loss of value, loss of purchasing power and the ability to convert the investment quickly to cash. More information about the risks of any specific investment should be discussed with a BFA Investment Advisor Representative before investing.

Clients are advised that performance may be affected more on smaller accounts due to difficulties with diversifying smaller accounts and due to risk controls potentially being compromised. Performance of smaller accounts may vary from the performance of accounts with more dollars invested due to fluctuations in the market that may affect smaller accounts more. Also, the effects of compounding may be greater in larger accounts versus smaller accounts. Generally, BFA's minimum account size is $250,000 invested.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

BFA is required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to the evaluation of BFA or the integrity of BFA's management. BFA has no information to disclose.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

BFA is affiliated with Boulay PLLP, (Boulay) an accounting firm, as described in Item 4. Investment Advisory Representatives are either employees of BFA or Partners in BFA Holdings. They can also offer various accounting services of Boulay for a fee.

Boulay Insurance Solutions, LLC (BIS) is an insurance agency owned by Boulay. The President of BIS is:

- David E. Bremer

BFA and BIS maintain a relationship with Valmark Securities, Inc., Executive Insurance Agency, LLC, Valmark Advisers, Inc. (referred to as “Valmark”), and Long Road Risk Management. These entities are affiliated with each other but are not affiliated with BFA and its affiliates. Valmark Advisers, Inc. is a registered investment advisor. Valmark Securities, Inc. is a registered broker dealer, member FINRA and SIPC.

The relationship with Valmark enables BFA and BIS to offer clients certain investment and/or insurance products and services that are intended to enhance what BFA can offer its clients. This means that they can also promote Valmark Advisers, Inc. as a third-party money manager. The following individuals are registered with Valmark, as indicated:

- Jay R. Brown (representative of the Valmark broker dealer),
- Joseph D. Bloodgood (representative of Valmark’s broker dealer and advisory firm), and
- Meghan Marie Hanes (Hannon) (representative of Valmark’s broker dealer and advisory firm).

While Valmark entities are not affiliated with BFA and its affiliates, the relationship with Valmark leads to conflicts of interest, including the following:

- BFA Investment Advisor Representatives familiar with Valmark’s third-party money manager and other Valmark investment and insurance products and services. Thus, they are more likely to recommend Valmark over other competitive offerings.
- BFA Investment Advisor Representatives are likely to promote Valmark because the relationship with Valmark makes it possible for BFA to provide services to 401(k) group plan sponsors, which represents significant business revenue to BFA.

Commissions may also be higher or lower at Valmark than at other broker dealers and clients are under no obligation to purchase or sell securities through these representatives. Neither BFA nor its Investment Advisor Representatives are paid a commission by Valmark for the products or services recommended to clients. While BFA Investment Advisor Representatives do not currently choose to earn commissions on the recommended certain securities and/or insurance products provided by Valmark Securities, Inc. or BIS, that situation could change in the future. Clients will be informed if they are recommended products where BFA Investment Advisor Representatives do earn commissions. These commissions would be in addition to fees paid for advisory services.

Clients to whom advisory services are provided are frequently clients that also receive accounting services provided by Boulay. Clients are advised that fees for accounting services are either in addition to fees paid for advisory services or bundled with the fees paid for advisory services. Accounting services fees will only be bundled if the Client agrees in writing to that arrangement through their Investment Advisory Agreement with BFA. Furthermore, Boulay is authorized to provide and be compensated for facilities, office and administrative support for BFA which is reflected in overall client advisory fees.

Andrew Kremer, Attorney, is a separate and distinct law practice owned by Andrew Kremer, who is also a partner of Boulay. Generally, clients seeking estate planning services will be referred to Andrew Kremer unless circumstances indicate otherwise. Clients are advised that fees for legal services are in addition to fees paid for advisory services and they are under no obligation to use the legal services of Andrew Kremer.

Jay R. Brown serves on the Schwab Advisor Services Advisory Board (Board). As described under Item 12 in greater detail, BFA often recommends that clients establish brokerage accounts with Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. to maintain custody of the clients' assets and effect trades for their accounts. The Board consists of approximately 12 representatives of independent investment advisory firms who have been invited to participate in meetings and discussions of Schwab Advisor Services' offerings for independent investment advisory firms and their clients. Board members serve two-year terms. Board members enter nondisclosure agreements under which they agree not to disclose confidential information shared with them. This information generally does not include material nonpublic information about the Charles Schwab Corporation (SCHW), whose common stock is listed for trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The Board meets in person approximately twice per year and has periodic conference calls scheduled as needed. Board members are not compensated for their service, but are reimbursed for travel, lodging, meals and other incidental expenses incurred in attending Board meetings.

BFA does not allow clients to direct brokerage business to other brokers or custodians at this time. Please reference Item 12 for more information.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

The Investment Advisor Representative has a fiduciary duty to clients to act in the best interest of the client and always place the client's interests first and foremost. BFA and our Investment Advisor Representatives acknowledge their fiduciary responsibility according to the Advisors Act, as well as the DOL Fiduciary Rule. BFA takes seriously its compliance and regulatory obligations and requires all staff to comply with such rules and regulations as well as BFA's policies and procedures. BFA also strives to handle clients' non-public information in such a way to protect information from falling into hands that have no business reason to know such information and provides clients with the BFA Privacy Policy.

Further, BFA maintains a Code of Ethics for its Investment Advisor Representatives, supervised persons, and staff. The Code of Ethics contains provisions for standards of business conduct in order to comply with federal securities laws, personal securities reporting requirements, pre-approval procedures for certain transactions, code violations reporting requirements, and safeguarding of material non-public information about client transactions. BFA's Code of Ethics establishes expectations for business conduct and each BFA Investment Advisor Representative and employee must annually acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics.

Investment Advisor Representatives and employees of BFA may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for BFA clients. The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of the employees of BFA will not interfere with:

- Making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients; and
- Implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts.

Under the Code certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would materially not interfere with the best interest of BFA's clients. In addition, the Code requires pre-clearance of certain transactions, and restricts trading in close proximity to client trading activity. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client in a security held by an employee. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics, to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between BFA and its clients.

Client accounts may trade in the same securities on an aggregated basis when consistent with BFA's obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the client accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. BFA will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be documented in writing.

BFA and its Investment Adviser Representatives act as fiduciaries when rendering investment advice for clients. Further, we act as fiduciaries under Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code when rendering investment advice regarding qualified retirement plans, IRAs, Archer MSAs and HSAs ("Plans"), to sponsors, participants and beneficiaries of such Plans, subject to the terms of our investment advisory agreement.

BFA's clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting Jay R. Brown at (952) 841-3024 or jrbrown@boulaygroup.com.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

CUSTODIAN AND BROKERS USED

BFA does not maintain custody of clients' assets (see "Item 15 – Custody", below). Assets must be maintained in an account at a "qualified custodian," generally a broker-dealer or bank. BFA generally recommends that clients use either Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (Schwab), Fidelity Investments Institutional Services Company, Inc. (Fidelity), TD Ameritrade Inc. (TD Ameritrade) or Nationwide Securities, LLC (Nationwide) as their qualified custodian. Each is a registered broker-dealer and member of SIPC. BFA is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with Schwab, Fidelity, TD Ameritrade or Nationwide. These custodians will hold client assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities when BFA instructs them to. While BFA generally recommends that clients use one of these firms as their custodian/broker, clients will decide whether to do so and will open accounts by entering into an account agreement with Schwab, Fidelity, TD Ameritrade or Nationwide, or another custodian of their choice.

SELECTING BROKERS/CUSTODIANS

Specific custodian products and services that assist BFA to manage and administer clients' accounts include software and other technology that:

- Provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements).
- Provide research, pricing, and other market data.
- Facilitate payment of BFA fees from its clients' accounts.
- Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting.

Certain custodians also offer other services intended to help BFA manage and further develop its business enterprise, such as educational events or occasional business entertainment of BFA personnel. In evaluating whether to recommend or require that clients custody their assets with a particular custodian, BFA also considers the availability of some of the foregoing products and services and other arrangements as part of the total mix of factors and not solely the nature, cost or quality of custody services provided by the custodian, which create potential conflicts of interest.

BFA seeks to recommend a custodian/broker who will hold client assets and execute transactions on terms that are, overall, more advantageous when compared to other available providers. A wide range of factors are considered, such as:

- Combination of transaction execution services and asset custody services (generally without a separate fee for custody).

- Capability to execute, clear and settle trades (buy and sell securities for clients' account).
 - Capability to facilitate transfers and payments to and from accounts (wire transfers, check requests, etc.).
 - Breadth of available investment products (stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds [ETFs], etc.).
 - Availability of investment research and tools that assist BFA in making investment decisions.
 - Quality of services.
 - Competitiveness of the price of those services (commission rates, margin interest rates, other fees, etc.) and willingness to negotiate the prices.
 - Reputation, financial strength, and stability.
 - Prior service to BFA and clients.
 - Availability of other products and services that benefit BFA, as discussed below (see Products and Services Available).

BROKERAGE AND CUSTODY COSTS

For clients' accounts maintained by Schwab, Fidelity, TD Ameritrade or Nationwide, the custodian generally does not charge separately for custody services but are compensated by charging commissions or other fees on trades they execute or settle into client's accounts.

PRODUCTS AND SERVICES AVAILABLE

Schwab, Fidelity, TD Ameritrade and Nationwide are in business to serve independent investment advisory firms like BFA. They provide BFA and its clients with access to their institutional brokerage – trading, custody, reporting, and related services – many of which are not typically available to their retail customers. Each firm also make available various support services. Some of these services help BFA manage or administer clients' accounts, while others help manage and grow the business. These support services generally are available on an unsolicited basis and at no charge to BFA.

SERVICES THAT BENEFIT CLIENTS

Schwab, Fidelity, TD Ameritrade and Nationwide brokerage services include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions and custody of client assets. The investment products available through them include some which BFA might not otherwise have access to or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by BFA clients. The services described in this paragraph generally benefit BFA clients.

SERVICES THAT MAY NOT DIRECTLY BENEFIT CLIENTS

Schwab, Fidelity, TD Ameritrade and Nationwide also make available to BFA other products and services that benefit BFA but typically do not directly benefit clients or clients' accounts. These products and services assist BFA in managing and administering clients' accounts. They include investment research from them and that of third parties. BFA uses this research to service all or a substantial number of clients' accounts. In addition to investment research, these custodians also make available software and other technology that:

- Provides access to account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements).
- Facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts.
- Provide pricing and other market data.
- Facilitate payment of BFA fees from clients' accounts.
- Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting.

SERVICES THAT GENERALLY BENEFIT ONLY BFA

Schwab, Fidelity, TD Ameritrade and Nationwide also offer other services intended to help BFA manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services include:

- Educational conferences and events.
- Consulting on technology, compliance, legal and business needs.
- Publications and conferences on practice management and business succession.
- Access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants and insurance providers.

These custodians can provide some of these services themselves. In other cases, they may arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to BFA. They can also discount or waive their fees for some of these services or pay all or part of a third party's fees. Schwab, Fidelity, TD Ameritrade and Nationwide have also on occasion provided BFA with other benefits, such as occasional business entertainment for BFA personnel. It is expected that these custodians will continue these practices in the future.

BFA'S INTEREST IN CUSTODIAL SERVICES

The availability of these services benefits BFA because BFA does not have to produce or purchase them. BFA does not pay Schwab, Fidelity, TD Ameritrade or Nationwide for services so long as BFA clients collectively keep a sufficient amount of assets in accounts at the respective custodian. Beyond that, these services are not contingent upon committing any specific amount of assets to custody or business that generates trading commissions. These arrangements give BFA an incentive to recommend that clients maintain accounts with one of these custodians over another, based on BFA's interest in receiving specific custodian services that benefit BFA's business rather than based on client's interests in receiving the best value in custody services. This is a potential conflict of interest. BFA believes, however, that the recommendation of Schwab, Fidelity, TD Ameritrade or Nationwide as a custodian and broker is in the best interests of the clients. The recommendation is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and price of their services (see "How BFA Selects Brokers/Custodians") and not the benefit to BFA.

BFA may use trade aggregation when multiple orders for a security are made, and implementation is consistent with BFA's obligation for best execution.

Certain custodians also offer other services intended to help BFA manage and further develop its business enterprise, such as educational events or occasional business entertainment of BFA personnel. In evaluating whether to recommend or require that clients custody their assets with a particular custodian, BFA takes into account the availability of some of the foregoing products and services and other arrangements as part of the total mix of factors it considers and not solely the nature, cost or quality of custody services provided by the custodian, which can create potential conflicts of interest.

BFA allows certain soft dollar arrangements offered by brokers or other vendors. An example of which is an Investment Advisor Representative could receive assistance with the costs of conferences and educational meetings from a product sponsor assisting with such events.

Various account custodians also make available to BFA other products and services that benefit the registered investment advisor but do not directly benefit its clients' accounts. Many of these products and services can be used to service all or some substantial number of BFA accounts, including accounts not maintained at the particular custodian.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

The BFA Investment Advisor Representatives review client accounts quarterly, or more often if needed. During the reviews, the Investment Advisor Representative considers the allocation of the account and the cash in the account to determine if the account has deviated from the agreed upon allocation. Upon execution of the Investment Advisory Agreement, comprehensive portfolio reviews will be provided as stated in the Investment Advisory Agreement. The contents and delivery of the comprehensive portfolio review are subject to the exceptions and minimum requirements stated in the Investment Advisory Agreement. The reviews will begin after the delivery of assets and implementation into the selected Investment Strategy. The reviews typically contain but are not limited to:

- A Portfolio Overview,
- A Comparison of the Current Allocation versus the Target Portfolio Allocation; and
- A Portfolio Holdings Analysis.

The Investment Advisor Representative will offer to meet with clients at least annually or at a client's request to discuss the client's accounts and to update the client's financial information should any changes occur. Clients are advised that the investment recommendations and advice offered by the Investment Advisor Representative do not represent legal advice or accounting advice. Clients are responsible for coordinating and discussing the impact of financial advice with their attorney and/or accountant. Clients are advised that it is necessary to inform BFA promptly with respect to any changes in the client's financial situation and investment goals and objectives, as failure to notify BFA of any such changes could result in investment advice not meeting the needs of the client.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Boulay PLLP (Boulay) is an accounting firm and majority owner of BFA. Certain partners and employees of Boulay receive compensation for introducing accounting firm clients to BFA when the referral results in new business. The sole responsibility of Boulay under this agreement is to introduce the client to the Investment Advisor Representative. Investment Advisor Representatives of BFA provide the appropriate disclosures and render all investment advisory services. The compensation to Boulay for these referral services is paid by Boulay or BFA from the investment advisory fees earned to the extent permitted under applicable laws. Typically, this compensation is paid annually for 1 to 3 years and may be up to 15% of the referred client advisory fee revenues collected. There is no increase in the advisory fees paid by the client to BFA as a result of compensation paid to Boulay.

Item 15 – Custody

BFA does not maintain custody of client assets, except in very limited circumstances. Client assets must be held in an account at a custodial broker-dealer. BFA is owned and operated independently from, and is not affiliated with, any qualified custodial platform. Based on recent SEC guidance, BFA has determined that it has custody of certain client assets when granted authority under a standing letter of instruction or similar arrangement ("SLOA") by which a client authorizes the custodian to accept instructions from BFA to make payments from the client's account to one or more third parties specifically designated by the client. BFA relies on guidance from the SEC that it will not seek enforcement action against an adviser for not subjecting itself to surprise custody examination by an independent accounting firm provided that the firm's custody of client assets exists only under SLOAs that meet certain requirements and under other arrangements not requiring a surprise audit. While BFA recommends that clients use a specific custodial broker-dealer, clients decide whether to do so and, depending upon the custodian, open accounts by entering into an account agreement directly with the selected custodial broker-dealer. BFA does not open accounts for clients, although it will assist clients in doing so. Custodians will hold client assets in a brokerage account and buy or sell securities when instructed. Transaction costs vary by custodian. Clients will receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. BFA urges clients to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account information provided by BFA. Any BFA statements provided could vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

BFA typically receives discretionary authority from the client at the outset of an advisory relationship to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold. Such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account.

When selecting securities and determining amounts, the Investment Advisor Representative observes the investment policies, limitations, and restrictions of the clients for which it advises. Restrictions or material changes made at the request of the client must be stated in writing or electronic format and acknowledged by the Investment Advisory Representative.

Non-discretionary accounts will be managed in accordance to an Investment Advisory Agreement specific to such accounts.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

BFA does not vote or give advice about how to vote proxies for securities held by the clients.

Item 18 – Financial Information

BFA is required in this item to provide clients with certain financial information or disclosures about BFA's financial condition. BFA has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients and it has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding. BFA does not accept fees in excess of $1,200 more than 6 months of advance, in which case BFA would be required to provide its financial statements to clients.

Privacy Policy

Boulay Financial Advisors, LLC
11095 Viking Drive, Suite 500
Eden Prairie, MN 55344

Pursuant to the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act, Boulay Financial Advisors, LLC is required to provide annual notice to clients about its privacy policies and practices. If you have any questions about the policies and practices described below, please contact us.

How and why we obtain information:

In order to facilitate the servicing of your account, we may ask for nonpublic personal information about you from any of the following sources:

- From your applications or forms (examples include name, address, Social Security Number, birth date, bank references, assets and income)
- From transactional activity in your account (examples include trading history and account balances)
- From other sources with your consent (for example, from other institutions if you transfer positions into an account managed by Boulay Financial Advisors, LLC)

How we protect your information:

Boulay Financial Advisors, LLC considers the protection of sensitive information to be a sound business practice and a foundation of client trust. We employ extensive information protection controls in keeping with industry standards and practices, and we regularly enhance these physical, electronic and procedural controls to respond to changing requirements and advances in technology.

Within Boulay Financial Advisors, LLC and among our service providers, we restrict access to your information to those who require that access in order to provide products and services to you. We may share the personal information that we collect about our clients, prospects or former clients with:

- Employees and other affiliates who are legally obligated to maintain confidentiality
- Unaffiliated service providers (for example, fulfillment companies, securities custodians, or securities clearinghouses)
- Government agencies and law enforcement officials (as required by law)
- Other organizations, as permitted by the laws that protect your privacy (such as for fraud prevention)
- Other organizations, with your consent

At Boulay Financial Advisors, LLC, we do not disclose any nonpublic personal information about you, except as permitted by law or with your consent. You have provided the consent to disclose certain nonpublic personal information to unaffiliated service providers, such as securities custodians and issuers, under your Investment Advisory Agreement. You may hear reference to an “opt out” provision at other firms. Since Boulay Financial Advisors, LLC does not disclose any nonpublic personal information except as permitted by law or your consent, there is no ability to “opt out.” Former clients’ information is treated in the same manner as that of current clients.
