Item 4-Advisory Business

Firm Description

Marin Financial Advisors, LLC, hereinafter (“the Advisor”) was founded in 2005 and is an SEC registered investment Advisor. Colin Drake and David Shore serve as the firm’s principals.

The Advisor provides personalized confidential financial planning and investment management to individuals, pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, and small businesses. In many cases, financial planning is part of the investment advisory services. Financial planning generally advises clients regarding cash flow, college planning, retirement planning, tax planning and estate planning and insurance.

Investment advice is provided, with the Advisor making the final decision on investment and brokerage selection under a limited power of attorney. The client always maintains asset control as their accounts are held by a qualified custodian. The Advisor does not take custody of or act as a custodian of client assets.

Other professionals (e.g., lawyers, accountants, insurance agents, etc.) are engaged directly by the client on an as-needed basis. Any conflicts of interest arising out of the Advisor or its associated persons are disclosed in this brochure.

Principal Owners

Colin Drake is a 90% stockholder. Dave Shore is a 10% stockholder.

Types of Advisory Services

The Advisor provides investment advice and management to individually managed accounts. The Advisor holds a limited power of attorney to act on a discretionary basis with respect to these accounts however there are By All Accounts clients where the Advisor provides advice on a non-discretionary basis. Client assets are deposited in a brokerage firm, usually Charles Schwab & Co., custodian account. Accounts are managed according to an Investment Policy Statement that is developed between the Advisor and its clients. Most accounts are primarily comprised of mutual funds, Exchange Traded Funds (“ETFs”) and some select securities although the Advisor generally has the latitude to use a number of different security types to achieve client goals.

The Advisor also provides financial planning services in which associated persons of the Advisor meet with clients to learn about their financial circumstances and identify their financial goals, objectives, and risk tolerance. Based on these meetings, the Advisor makes appropriate financial planning recommendations. As part of a comprehensive financial plan, the Advisor will often advise clients on matters of life, debt management, tax planning, estate planning, insurance review, and other related topics, but does not provide accounting or legal advice. These services are provided at the client’s request. The Advisor may offer to help client implement recommendations, but client is under no obligation to accept any of the recommendations of the Advisor or purchase securities or insurance products through the Advisor or its associated persons.

The Advisor uses a graduated compensation schedule for wealth advisory services and a fixed price for financial planning-only services, however fees may be negotiated with the client on a case-by case basis and the agreements may be terminated by either party with written notice. The Advisor believes that its fees are competitive with fees charged by other investment Advisors for comparable services, but these services may be available for lower fees than those that the Advisor charges.

The Advisor engages in an investment Advisory business and manages more than one account. Therefore, there may be conflicts of interest over Advisor's time devoted to managing any one account and the allocation of investment opportunities among all accounts that it manages. Advisor attempts to resolve all such conflicts in a manner that is generally fair to all of its clients. Advisor may give advice and take action with respect to any of its clients that differs from the advice that it gives or the timing or nature of the action that it takes with respect to another client so long as it is Advisor's policy, to the extent practicable, is to allocate investment opportunities to its clients over time on a fair and equitable basis.

The Advisor shall provide research and analysis with regard to investment advice and fiduciary due diligence services for the Client. The Advisor shall also provide research and analysis that covers the investment products of several qualified and non-qualified retirement plan providers. The goal of the investment due diligence process is to establish a logical, technical, and comprehensive process that is consistently employed in the selection and ongoing monitoring of funds for plan sponsors and individuals, accompanied by an investment policy statement (for plan sponsors only), that defines the process utilized to recommend the investments to plan sponsors and individuals.

For company retirement plan services, the Employer (Client of the Advisor) sponsors a qualified (or nonqualified) Retirement Plan for the benefit of its employees. The Plan is a qualified or non-qualified employee benefit plan intended to comply with all applicable federal laws and regulations, including the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, and the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), as amended, if applicable.

The Advisor may employ many different calculations, processes, and screening techniques to arrive at specific recommended individual investments within the array of investments offered by each investment provider that is being analyzed including but not limited to the following:

- Investment analysis by asset class (domestic equity, international equity, income, hybrid/managed accounts), including market capitalization (small, medium, and large), and investment objective (value, blend, and growth orientation)
- Performance relative to other investments in the same asset class
- Investment performance relative to benchmark performance for the same asset class
- Style-based analysis to determine the impact of an investment being managed differently than its stated investment objective (which is usually a combination of the stated market capitalization category, and investment objective category)
- Common objective risk and return statistical measurements, such as Sharpe ratio, standard deviation, alpha, and beta
- Common statistically relevant manager value measurements such as information ratio and tracking error

In addition to providing investment advisory and financial planning services to individually managed client accounts, the Adviser may, at times, bring clients (prospective investors) other investment ideas (including but not limited to; private equity funds, limited partnerships, other special purpose vehicles) that are outside of the scope of the client's investment management agreement. These outside investments are to be made by means of offering memoranda (or similar), which the issuer will provide the prospective investors prior to investing and will contain all material facts including additional risk factors relating to any such investment. These prospective investors are advised to carefully review information in the offering memorandum and consult with their own legal, accounting, tax and other advisors in order to independently assess the merits of such an investment. While these outside investments are not formally part of the client's MFA managed assets, the Adviser fulfills its fiduciary obligation to the client by conducting appropriate due diligence on each respective investment and disclosing all relevant conflicts of interest. There is a potential for conflict as the Advisor or its representatives may have an inherent interest in the success of the underlying investment. If/when a client decides to invest in an opportunity that may relate to the interests of the advisor or its representatives, the firm will make documented efforts to ensure any such outside investments are in-line with the fiduciary duty of care & loyalty. More specifically, that Adviser: (a) ensures any such outside investment is in the best interest of the client; (b) fulfills its obligation to subordinate its interest to that of the client; and (c) has fully and fairly disclosed all material conflicts of interest that could impact the relationship.

IRA Rollover Recommendations

Effective December 20, 2021 (or such later date as the US Department of Labor ("DOL") Field Assistance Bulletin 2018-02 ceases to be in effect), for purposes of complying with the DOL's Prohibited Transaction Exemption 2020-02 ("PTE 2020-02") where applicable, we are providing the following acknowledgment to you.

When we provide investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests, so we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. Under this special rule's provisions, we must:

- Meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice);
- Never put our financial interests ahead of yours when making recommendations (give loyal advice);
- Avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments;
- Follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in your best interest;
- Charge no more than is reasonable for our services; and
- Give you basic information about conflicts of interest.

As of December 31, 2022, the Advisor manages approximately $399,900,000 in assets for approximately 490 accounts on a discretionary basis and $3,200,000 in assets for approximately 12 accounts on a non-discretionary basis.

Tailored Relationships

The goals and objectives for each client are documented in our client relationship management system. Investment policy statements are created that reflect the stated goals and objective. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

Assignment of Investment Management Agreements

Agreements may not be assigned without the client's consent.

Types of Agreements

The following agreements define the typical client relationships.

Financial Planning Agreement

The financial plan may include, but is not limited to: a net worth statement; a cash flow statement; a review of investment accounts, including reviewing asset allocation and providing repositioning recommendations; strategic tax planning; a review of retirement accounts and plans including recommendations; a review of insurance policies and recommendations for changes, if necessary; one or more retirement scenarios; estate planning review and recommendations; and education planning with funding recommendations.

The financial planning service provided does not require that the client use or purchase the investment Advisory services offered by the Advisor or any of the insurance products or other products and services offered by the associated persons of the Advisor. There is an inherent conflict of interest for the Advisor whenever a financial plan recommends use of professional investment management services or the purchase of insurance products or other financial products or services. The Advisor or its associated persons may receive compensation for financial planning and the provision of investment management services and/or the sale of insurance and other products and services. The Advisor does not make any representation that these products and services are offered at the lowest available cost and the client may be able to obtain the same products or services at a lower cost from other providers. However, the client is under no obligation to accept any of the recommendations of the Advisor or use the services of the Advisor in particular.

Investment Management Agreement

Realistic and measurable goals are set and objectives to reach those goals are defined. As goals and objectives change over time, suggestions are made and implemented on an ongoing basis. The Advisor periodically reviews a client's financial situation and portfolio through regular contact with the client which often includes an annual meeting with the client. The Advisor makes use of portfolio rebalancing software to maintain client allocations according to the Investment Policy Statement in effect.

The scope of work and fee for an Advisory Service Agreement is provided to the client in writing prior to the start of the relationship. The agreement sets forth the services to be provided, the fees for the service and the agreement may be terminated by either party in writing at any time. Fees may vary based on client needs and advisory services provided by Colin Drake on behalf of MFA clients.

Asset Management

Investments in client portfolios may include mutual funds (shares), equities (stocks), corporate debt securities, commercial paper, certificates of deposit, municipal securities, investment company securities (variable life insurance, variable annuities, and U. S. government securities, options contracts, and interests in partnerships.

Assets are invested primarily in no-load or low-load mutual funds and exchange-traded funds, usually through brokers or fund companies. Fund companies may charge each fund shareholder an investment management fee that is disclosed in the fund prospectus. Brokerages may charge a transaction fee for the purchase of some funds.

Stocks and bonds may be purchased or sold through a brokerage account when appropriate whereby the brokerage firm charges a fee for stock and bond trades. The Advisor does not receive any compensation from fund companies or brokerages.

Initial public offerings (IPOs) are not available through the Advisor.

WRAP Program

The Advisor does not sponsor or provide investment management services to a wrap program.

Termination of Agreement

A Client may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying the Advisor in writing. Clients shall be charged pro rata for services provided through to the date of termination. If the client made an advance payment, The Advisor will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

The Advisor may terminate any of the aforementioned agreements at any time by notifying the client in writing. If the client made an advance payment, the Advisor will refund any unearned portion of the advance payment.

The Advisor reserves the right to terminate any financial planning engagement where a client has willfully concealed or has refused to provide pertinent information about financial situations when necessary and appropriate, in the Advisor's judgment, to providing proper financial advice. Any unused portion of fees collected in advance will be refunded.

Item 5-Fees and Compensation

Investment Management

The Advisor bases its fees on a percentage of assets under management, hourly charges, and fixed fees. The length of service to the client is at the client's discretion. Upon termination, fees will be billed on a pro rata basis for the portion of the quarter completed. The portfolio value at the completion of the prior full billing quarter is used as the basis for the fee computation, adjusted for the number of days during the billing quarter prior to termination. The investment management fees are negotiable at the sole discretion of the Advisor and may exceed the minimum annual percentage due to additional advisory services provided by Colin Drake.

Clients are charged an annual management fee based on account size according to the following schedule:

Minimum Annualized Investment Management Fees
Account Value From	Account Value To	Annual Percentage Fee
$0	$1,000,000	1.00%
$1,000,001	$2,000,000	0.75%
$2,000,001	$5,000,000	0.50%
$5,000,001	$10,000,000	0.40%
Over $10,000,001		Negotiable

The Advisor provides advice to company 401(k) plans at the following fee schedule:

Plan Size
From	To	MFA Fee
$0	$1,000,000	0.90%
$1,000,001	$5,000,000	0.70%
$5,000,001	$10,000,000	0.60%
$10,000,001	$20,000,000	0.50%
$20,000,001	$50,000,000	0.40%
$50,000,001	$100,000,000	0.30%

The investment management fees for advice to 401(k) plans are negotiable at the sole discretion of the Advisor. The Advisor may and has agreed to a fixed fee rather than a fee based on assets under management for this service. The client for this service is generally billed in arrears however at its discretion the Advisor may agree to other billing arrangements. Should a 401(k) plan terminate, any fees taken in advance will be reimbursed pro rata for the time period that services are provided.

Financial Planning

The Advisor may charge an additional hourly fee for complex financial planning advice that goes beyond that which is typically included in the investment management fee. The hourly rate, which is negotiable at the sole discretion of the Advisor, is determined by the extent and complexity of the plan. Alternatively, the client and The Advisor can agree upon a fixed rate for the plan. In the case of a fixed rate, The Advisor will charge an up-front retainer of at least $1,500 or up to half of the fixed rate fee whichever is greater, with the balance due upon the plan's completion. Planning fees generally range from $3,000 or more for the first six months with the fee being determined by the extent and complexity of the plan. Fees for financial planning are negotiable for larger accounts, multiple accounts or at the discretion of The Advisor. Financial planning agreements may be terminated upon written notice by the client or the Advisor. Fees paid in advance for financial planning are not refundable if the agreed upon work has been completed. If the client terminates the agreement before The Advisor's work is completed, fees will be refunded pro-rata based upon how much of the work has been completed.

Item 6-Performance Fees

Performance Fees

Fees are not based on a share of the capital gains or capital appreciation of managed securities. However, the Advisor may employ certain types of investments that do charge a performance fee in which the Advisor does not participate. For these investments, refer to their offering or private placement memorandum for an explanation and amounts of the performance fees.

Fee Billing

Investment management fees for wealth management clients are billed quarterly, in arrears, meaning that we invoice you after the three-month billing period has ended. Payment in full is expected upon invoice presentation. Fees are deducted from the client account to facilitate billing as authorized by the investment management agreement. Arrangements may be made for advance or invoice billing at sole discretion of Advisor.

Other Fees

The Advisor may include mutual funds, variable annuity products, ETFs, and other managed products or partnerships in clients' portfolios. Clients may be charged for the services by the providers/managers of these products in addition to the management fee paid to the Advisor. The Advisor, from time to time, may select or recommend to separately managed clients the purchase of proprietary investment products. The fees and expenses charged by the product providers are separate and distinct from the management fee charged by the Advisor. These fees and expenses are described in each mutual fund's or underlying annuity fund's prospectus or in the offering memorandums of a partnership. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses and a possible distribution fee. No-load or load waived mutual funds may be used in client portfolios so there would be no initial or deferred sales charges; however, if a fund that imposes sales charges is selected, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. A client could invest in a mutual fund or variable annuity or investment partnership directly, without the services of the Advisor. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and the applicable program fee charged by the Advisor to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the Advisory services being provided. If it is determined that a client portfolio shall contain corporate debt or other types of over the counter securities, the client may pay a mark-up or mark-down or a "spread" to the broker or dealer on the other side of the transaction that is built into the purchase price of the security.

Item 7-Types of Clients

Description

The Advisor generally provides investment advice to individuals, pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, estates, or charitable organizations, and corporations or business entities. Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

Account Minimums

The Advisor generally requires a minimum account size of $1,000,000 of assets under management. The Advisor has the sole discretion to waive the account minimum.

Item 8-Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Portfolio construction is based on research originally done by Dimensional Fund Advisors of Austin, TX. The investment strategy is based on “three factor analysis” commonly referred to as Fama-French three factor analysis (named after the academics who did the original research) and is generally tilted toward small cap and value stocks (as well as toward highly profitable stocks). Advisor also invests in companies domiciled outside the US through mutual funds and ETFs. Advisor primarily relies upon the financial press for information and has no source of inside information. Advisor subscribes to academic research, fund company research and to various publications and information services such as Morningstar, Financial Planning Magazine, Financial Advisor, Investment News and others. Advisor also attends various meetings and conferences throughout the year to keep current on issues such as investments, tax and retirement plans. While the Advisor takes a long-term investment approach, accounts are set up to allow short-term liquidity. Leverage (margin borrowing) is not employed as an investment strategy but is often added to accounts as a feature to enable some convenience for client cash flow, expenses and tax management issues.

Investment Strategies

Portfolio strategies may include long-term purchases, short-term purchases, margin transactions, and option writing. The primary investment strategy used on client accounts is strategic asset. Portfolios are globally diversified to control the risk associated with traditional markets.

The investment strategy for a specific client is based upon the objectives stated by the client during consultations. The client may change these objectives at any time. Each client is asked to execute an Investment Policy Statement that documents their objectives and their desired investment strategy. The Advisor’s strategies do not involve frequent trading.

Market, Security and Regulatory Risks

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks:

Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.

Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security’s particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.

Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.

Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.

Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.

Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.

Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.

Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

Item 9-Disciplinary Information

Legal and Disciplinary

The firm and its employees have not been involved in legal or disciplinary events related to past or present investment clients.

Item 10-Other Financial Activities and Affiliations

Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

The Advisor is not registered as a securities broker-dealer, nor is involved in any other business other than providing investment advice to its clients.

Item 11-Code of Ethics, Participation in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics

The Advisor has adopted a Code of Ethics which establishes standards of conduct for Advisor's supervised persons. The Code of Ethics includes general requirements that such supervised persons comply with their fiduciary obligations to clients and applicable securities laws, and specific requirements relating to, among other things, personal trading, insider trading, conflicts of interest and confidentiality of client information. It requires supervised persons to report their personal securities transactions and holdings quarterly to the Advisor's Compliance Officer and requires the Compliance Officer to review those reports. It also requires supervised persons to report any violations of the Code of Ethics promptly to the Advisor's Compliance Officer. Each supervised person of the Advisor receives a copy of the Code of Ethics and any amendments to it and must acknowledge in writing having received the materials. Annually, each supervised person must certify that he or she complied with the Code of Ethics during that year. Clients and prospective clients may obtain a copy of the Advisor's Code of Ethics by contacting the Compliance Officer of the Advisor. Under the Advisor's Code of Ethics, the Advisor and its managers, members, officers and employees may invest personally in securities of the same classes as are purchased for clients and may own securities of the issuers whose securities are subsequently purchased for clients.

If an issue is purchased or sold for clients and any of the Advisor, managers, members, officers and employees on the same day purchase or sell the same security, either the clients and the Advisor, managers, members, officers or employees shall receive or pay the same price or the clients shall receive a more favorable price. The Advisor and its managers, members, officers and employee may also buy or sell specific securities for their own accounts based on personal investment considerations, which the Advisor does not deem appropriate to buy or sell for clients. Clients and prospective clients may obtain a copy of Advisor's Code of Ethics by contacting Advisor. The employees of The Advisor have committed to a Code of Ethics. The firm will provide a copy of the Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

Under the Advisor's Code of Ethics, the Advisor and its managers, members, officers and employees may invest personally in securities of the same classes as are purchased for clients and may own securities of the issuers whose securities are subsequently purchased for clients. If an issue is purchased or sold for clients and any of the Advisor, managers, members, officers and employees on the same day purchase or sell the same security, either the clients and the Advisor, managers, members, officers or employees shall receive or pay the same price or the clients shall receive a more favorable price. The Advisor and its managers, members, officers and employee may also buy or sell specific securities for their own accounts based on personal investment considerations which the Advisor does not deem appropriate to buy or sell for clients.

Personal Trading

The Chief Compliance Officer of the Advisor is Colin B. Drake. He reviews all employee trades, except for his own trading activity that is reviewed by another principal or officer of the Advisor. The personal trading reviews ensure that the personal trading of employees does not affect the markets and that clients of the firm receive preferential treatment.

Item 12-Brokerage Practices

Brokerage Selection and Soft Dollars

For our clients' accounts that Schwab maintains, Schwab generally does not charge you separately for custody services but is compensated by charging you commissions or other fees on trades that it executes or that settle into your Schwab account. Certain trades (e.g., mutual funds or ETFs) do not incur Schwab commissions or transaction fees. Schwab is also compensated by earning interest on the uninvested cash in your account in Schwab's Cash Features Program. For some accounts, Schwab charges you a percentage of the dollar amount of assets in the account in lieu of commissions. In addition to commissions and asset-based fees, Schwab would charge you a flat dollar amount as a "prime broker" or "trade away" fee for each trade that, if applicable, a TPAM executes for our clients at a different broker- dealer, but where securities bought or the funds from securities sold are deposited (settled) into your

Schwab account. These fees would be in addition the commissions or other compensation you pay the executing broker-dealer. Because of this, in order to minimize your trading costs, we seek and encourage you and your IAR to execute trading costs through the Schwab (or other custodians that you may utilize as part of our service). Trading away can sacrifice best execution and incur additional costs from the other firm, as well as fees from our custodians to transfer in those positions.

Products and Services Available to Us From Schwab

Schwab Adviser ServicesTM serves independent investment advisory firms like us. They provide our clients with access to their institutional brokerage services (trading, custody, reporting and related services), many of which are not available to Schwab retail customers. However, certain retail investors may be able to get institutional brokerage services from Schwab without going through us. Schwab also makes available various support services. Some of those services help us manage and grow our business. Schwab's support services are generally available on an unsolicited business (we do not have to request them) and at no cost to us. The following material provides a more detailed description of Schwab support services.

Services that benefit you.

Schwab institutional brokerage services include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions and custody of client assets. The investment products made available through Schwab include some of which you might not otherwise have access to or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by our clients. Schwab's services described in this paragraph generally benefit you and your account.

Services that do not directly benefit you.

Schwab also makes available to use other products and services that benefit us but do not directly benefit you and or your account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients' accounts and operating our firm. They include investment research, both Schwab's own and that of 3rd parties. We use this research to service all or a substantial number of our clients' accounts, including accounts not maintained in Schwab. In addition to investment research, Schwab also makes available software and other technology that:

- Provide access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements)
- Facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts
- Provide pricing and other market data
- Facilitate payment of our fees from other clients' accounts
- Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting

We do not open accounts for you, although we may assist you in doing so. To the extent that your account is maintained at Schwab, and most trades may occur through Schwab or such other designated custodian, such custodians have the ability to use other brokers to execute trades for your account.

Your Brokerage and Custody Costs

For our client's accounts that Schwab maintains, Schwab generally does not charge you separately for custody services but is compensated by charging you commissions or other fees on trades that it executes or that settle into your Schwab account. Certain trades (for example, mutual funds and ETDs) do not incur Schwab commissions or transaction fees. Schwab is also compensated by earning interest on the uninvested cash in your account in Schwab's Cash Features Program. For some accounts, Schwab charges you a percentage of the dollar amount of the assets in the account in lieu of commissions.

Services that generally benefit only us.

Schwab also offers other service intended to help us manage and further develop our business enterprise. They services include:

- Educational conference and events;
- Consulting on technology and business needs;
- Consulting on legal and compliance-related needs;
- Publications and conferences on practice management and business succession;
- Access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants and insurance providers; and
- Marketing consulting and support.

We intend to use the benefit to covers some of the costs of its annual sales and due diligence conference for our investment advisory personnel and supervised persons. This is being included as a conflict of interest. It serves as an incentive to use Schwab over other custodians.

Schwab provides some of these services itself. In other cases, it will arrange for 3rd party vendors to provide the services to us. Schwab also discounts or waives its fees for some of these services or pays all or part of the 3rd party fees. Schwab may also provide us with other benefits, such as occasional business entertainment for our personnel.

Our interest in Schwab's services, as well as the service of other Custodians.

The availability of these services from Schwab benefits us because we do not have to produce or purchase them. We don't have to pay for Schwab's ancillary services. Schwab has also agreed to pay for certain technology, research, marketing, and compliance consulting products and services on our behalf. The fact that we receive these benefits from Schwab is an incentive for us to recommend/request the use of Schwab rather than making such a decision based exclusively on your interest in receiving the best value in custody services and the most favorable execution of your transactions. This is a conflict of interest. We believe, however, that taken in the aggregate, whichever custodian we use, our selection of the custodians, whether Schwab or otherwise, as custodian and broker is driven by the Best Interest of our clients. Our selection is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and price of custodian's services and not service that benefit only us.

Order Aggregation

The nature of the clients and/or trading activity on behalf of client accounts are such that trade aggregation does not garner any client benefit (in regard to mutual fund or exchange traded funds for example).

Directing Brokerage for Client Referrals

The Advisor and its associated persons do not receive client referrals from broker dealers or third parties as consideration for selecting or recommending brokers for client accounts.

Item 13- Review of Accounts

Periodic Reviews

Accounts are monitored on a daily basis utilizing rebalancing software. Additionally, Advisor attempts to meet annually with clients. They consider the client's current security positions and the likelihood that the performance of each security will contribute to the investment objectives of the client.

Review Triggers

While accounts are monitored on a daily basis through the rebalancing software, the Advisors will meet with clients more frequently as personal circumstances or market conditions dictate. Other conditions that may trigger a review are changes in the tax laws, new investment information, and changes in a client's financial or personal situation.

Regular Reports

Individually managed accounts receive monthly reports from the custodian and quarterly reports from the Advisor. Advisor reviews are typically distributed in the first 30 days following calendar quarter end. As an alternative, Advisor reviews may be conducted in person at the Advisor's office. Reviews include a listing of all values of assets managed by the Advisor plus performance reviews of each asset. The reviews may also include graphs showing the allocation of assets by type in the client portfolio.

Item 14-Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Incoming Client Referrals

The Advisor from time to time may receive client referrals which may come from current clients, estate planning attorneys, accountants, employees, personal friends of employees and other similar sources. The firm does not compensate referring parties for these referrals.

Referrals to Third Parties

The Advisor does not accept referral fees or any form of remuneration from other professionals when a prospect or client is referred to them.

Item 15-Custody

Custody Policy

The Advisor does not accept or permit the Firm or its associated persons to obtain custody of client assets including cash, securities, acting as trustee, or providing bill paying service, have password access to control account activity or any other form of controlling client assets. All checks or wire transfer to fund client accounts are required to be made out to/sent to the account custodian.

Account Statements

All assets are held at qualified custodians and the custodians provide account statements not less than quarterly to clients at their address of record. Clients should carefully review such statements for any discrepancies or inaccuracies.

Performance Reports

Pursuant to recent amendments to Rule 206(4) under the Investment Advisors Act of 1940, the Securities and Exchange Commission now requires Advisors to urge clients to compare the information set forth in their statement from the Advisor with the statements received directly from the custodian to ensure accuracy of all account transactions.

Item 16- Investment Discretion

Discretionary Authority for Trading

The Advisor accepts new accounts usually only when it is given full investment discretion. The firm's discretionary authority regarding investments may however be subject to certain limitations. These limitations are recognized as the restrictions and prohibitions placed by the Client on transactions in certain types of business or industries. All such restrictions are to be agreed upon in writing at the account's inception. Under certain circumstances, the Advisor provides advice on By All Accounts clients and does not have discretion whereby the Advisor must obtain authorization to trade on behalf of those clients.

Item 17-Voting Client Securities

Proxy Votes

The Advisor will not vote nor advise clients how to vote proxies for securities held in client accounts. The client clearly keeps the authority and responsibility for the voting of these proxies. The Advisor does not give any advice or take any action with respect to the voting of these proxies. For accounts subject to the provisions of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA"), the plan fiduciary specifically keeps the authority and responsibility for the voting of any proxies for securities held in plan accounts. The Advisor promptly passes along any proxy voting information to the clients or their representatives. However, where required by regulation or law in regard to an ERISA account the Advisor will vote proxies and retain records of how voted and supporting documentation on the vote. Any account subject to having proxies voted by the Advisor may request a copy of the voting records from the Colin B. Drake, the Chief Compliance Officer.

Item 18-Financial Information

Financial condition

The Advisor does not have any financial impairment that will preclude the firm from meeting contractual commitments to clients and the Advisor meets all net capital requirements that it may be subject to. The Advisor has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition in the last 10 years.

The Advisor is not required to provide a balance sheet as it does not serve as a custodian for client funds or securities and does not require prepayment of fees of more than $1,200 per client, and six months or more in advance.

Business Continuity Plan

General

The Advisor has a Business Continuity Plan in place that provides detailed steps to mitigate and recover from the loss of office space, communications, services or key people.

Disasters

The Business Continuity Plan covers natural disasters such as earthquakes, hurricanes, tornados, and flooding. The Plan covers man-made disasters such as loss of electrical power, loss of water pressure, fire, bomb threat, nuclear emergency, chemical event, biological event, T-1 communications-line outage, Internet outage, railway accident and aircraft accident. Electronic files are backed up daily and archived offsite.

Alternate Offices

Alternate offices are identified to support ongoing operations in the event the main office is unavailable. It is our intention to contact all clients within five days of a disaster that dictates moving our office to an alternate location.

Summary of Business Continuity Plan

A summary of the business continuity plan is available upon request to the Advisor's Chief Compliance Officer.

Privacy Practices

Our Privacy Policy

Our Commitment to You

Marin Financial Advisors is committed to safeguarding the use of personal information of our Clients (also referred to as “you” and “your”) that we obtain as your Investment Advisor, as described here in our Privacy Policy (“Policy”).

Our relationship with you is our most important asset. We understand that you have entrusted us with your private information, and we do everything that we can to maintain that trust. Marin Financial Advisors (also referred to as "we", "our" and "us") protects the security and confidentiality of the personal information we have and implements controls to ensure that such information is used for proper business purposes in connection with the management or servicing of our relationship with you.

Marin Financial Advisors does not sell your non-public personal information to anyone. Nor do we provide such information to others except for discrete and reasonable business purposes in connection with the servicing and management of our relationship with you, as discussed below.

Details of our approach to privacy and how your personal non-public information is collected and used are set forth in this Policy.

Why you need to know?

Registered Investment Advisors (“RIAs”) must share some of your personal information in the course of servicing your account. Federal and State laws give you the right to limit some of this sharing and require RIAs to disclose how we collect, share, and protect your personal information.

What information do we collect from you?

Social security or taxpayer identification number
Name, address and phone number[s]
E-mail address(es)
Account information (including other institutions)
Assets and liabilities

Investment activity
Investment experience and goals
Other similar data

What Information do we collect from other sources?

Custody, brokerage and advisory agreements
 Other advisory agreements and legal documents
 Transactional information with us or others
 Account applications and forms
 Investment questionnaires and suitability documents
 Other information needed to service accounts

How do we protect your information?

To safeguard your personal information from unauthorized access and use we maintain physical, procedural, and electronic security measures. These include such safeguards as secure passwords, encrypted file storage and a secure office environment. Our technology vendors provide security and access control over personal information and have policies over the transmission of data. Our associates are trained on their responsibilities to protect Client's personal information.

We require third parties that assist in providing our services to you to protect the personal information they receive from us.

How do we share your information?

An RIA shares Client personal information to effectively implement its services. In the section below, we list some reasons we may share your personal information.

Basis For Sharing	Do we share?	Can you limit?
Servicing our Clients We may share non-public personal information with non-affiliated third parties (such as administrators, brokers, custodians, regulators, credit agencies, other financial institutions) as necessary for us to provide agreed upon services to you, consistent with applicable law, including but not limited to: processing transactions; general account maintenance; responding to regulators or legal investigations; and credit reporting.	Yes	No
Marketing Purposes Marin Financial Advisors does not disclose, and does not intend to disclose, personal information with non-affiliated third parties to offer you services. Certain laws may give us the right to share your personal information with financial institutions where you are a customer and where Marin Financial Advisors or the client has a formal agreement with the financial institution. We will only share information for purposes of servicing your accounts, not for marketing purposes.	No	Not Shared
Authorized Users Your non-public personal information may be disclosed to you and persons that we believe to be your authorized agent[s] or	Yes	Yes representative[s].

Information About Former Clients Marin Financial Advisors does not disclose and does not intend to disclose, non-public personal information to non-affiliated third parties with respect to persons who are no longer our Clients.	No	Not Shared

State-specific Regulations

California	In response to a California law, to be conservative, we assume accounts with California addresses do not want us to disclose personal information about you to non-affiliated third parties, except as permitted by California law. We also limit the sharing of personal information about you with our affiliates to ensure compliance with California privacy laws.

Changes to our Privacy Policy

We will send you a copy of this Policy annually for as long as you maintain an ongoing relationship with us.

Periodically we may revise this Policy and will provide you with a revised policy if the changes materially alter the previous Privacy Policy. We will not, however, revise our Privacy Policy to permit the sharing of non-public personal information other than as described in this notice unless we first notify you and provide you with an opportunity to prevent information sharing.

Any Questions?

You may ask questions or voice any concerns, as well as obtain a copy of our current Privacy Policy by contacting us at (415) 925-1212 or via email us at colin@marinfa.com
