Item 4 – Advisory Business

Barron Financial Group, LLP (“BFG” or “Firm”) is owned by James A. Thibault and has been providing advisory services since 2006.

As of December 31, 2022, Barron Financial Group, LLP had a total of $103,171,509 in assets under management. $99,732,785 of those assets were managed on a discretionary basis, and $3,438,723 were managed on a non-discretionary basis.

PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT SERVICES:

BFG provides continuous advice to a client and investment management based on the individual needs of the client. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a client’s particular circumstances are established, BFG develops a client’s personal investment policy and creates and manages a portfolio based on that policy. The Portfolio Management Service, BFG will manage advisory accounts on a discretionary basis only. Account supervision is guided by the stated objectives of the client (i.e., maximum capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income).

PORTFOLIO ADVISORY SERVICES:

In some cases, BFG’s Portfolio Management Services are not suitable for a client. In these cases, BFG offers Portfolio Advisory Services to clients and manages their accounts on a non-discretionary basis. Recommendations will be based on a client’s individual circumstances and needs, BFG will help determine investments, or managers, which are appropriate for the client. Factors considered in this determination are account size, risk tolerance and the opinion of the client. Clients should refer to the specific investment prospectuses for a full description of the investments chosen. BFG will meet with the client on a regular basis, or as determined by the client, to review the account(s).

Under the Portfolio Advisory Service, BFG will assist the client in selecting new investments, and then monitor the performance accordingly. However, all investment decisions are solely at the discretion of the client.

RETIREMENT PLAN ADVISORY SERVICES:

BFG offers service to qualified and non-qualified retirement plans including 401(k) plans, 403(b) plans, pension and profit-sharing plans, cash balance plans, and deferred compensation plans.

BFG acts as a limited scope ERISA 3(21) fiduciary that can advise, help, and assist plan sponsors with their investment decisions. As an investment advisor BFG has a fiduciary duty to act in the best interest of the Client. The plan sponsor is still ultimately responsible for the decisions made in their plan, though using BFG can help the plan sponsor delegate liability by following a diligent process.

1. Fiduciary Services are:

- Provide investment advice to the Client about asset classes and investment alternatives available for the Plan in accordance with the Plan’s investment policies and objectives. Clients will make the final decision regarding the initial selection, retention, removal, and addition of investment options. BFG acknowledges that it is a fiduciary as defined in ERISA section 3 (21) (A) (ii).

- Assist the Client in the development of an investment policy statement (“IPS”). The IPS establishes the investment policies and objectives for the Plan. Client shall have the ultimate responsibility and authority to establish such policies and objectives and to adopt and amend the IPS.
- Provide investment advice to the Plan Sponsor with respect to the selection of a qualified default investment alternative for participants who are automatically enrolled in the Plan or who have otherwise failed to make investment elections. The Client retains the sole responsibility to provide all notices to the Plan participants required under ERISA Section 404(c)(5) and 404(a)-5.
- Assist in monitoring investment options by preparing periodic investment reports that document investment performance, consistency of fund management and conformance to the guidelines set forth in the IPS and make recommendations to maintain, remove or replace investment options.
- Meet with the Client on a periodic basis to discuss the reports and the investment recommendations.

2. Non-fiduciary Services are:

- Assist in the education of Plan participants about general investment information and the investment alternatives available to them under the Plan. Client understands BFG’s assistance in education of the Plan participants shall be consistent with and within the scope of the Department of Labor’s definition of investment education (Department of Labor Interpretive Bulletin 96-1). As such, BFG is not providing fiduciary advice as defined by ERISA 3(21)(A)(ii) to the Plan participants. BFG will not provide investment advice concerning the prudence of any investment option or combination of investment options for a particular participant or beneficiary under the Plan.
- Assist in the group enrollment meetings designed to increase retirement plan participation among the employees and investment and financial understanding by the employees.

BFG can provide these services or, alternatively, can arrange for the Plan’s other providers to offer these services, as agreed upon between BFG and Client.

3. BFG has no responsibility to provide services related to the following types of assets (“Excluded Assets”):

- Employer securities;
- Real estate (except for real estate funds or publicly traded REITs);
- Stock brokerage accounts or mutual fund windows;
- Participant loans;
- Non-publicly traded partnership interests;

- Other non-publicly traded securities or property (other than collective trusts and similar vehicles); or
- Other hard-to-value or illiquid securities or property.

Excluded Assets will not be included in calculation of Fees paid to BFG on the ERISA Agreement. Specific services will be outlined in detail to each plan in the 408(b)2 disclosure.

FINANCIAL PLANNING SERVICES:

BFG also provides advice in the form of a Financial Plan. Clients purchasing this service will receive a written report, providing the client with a detailed financial plan designed to achieve his or her stated financial goals and objectives. Generally, BFG only offers financial planning services to existing Portfolio Management clients, although exceptions to this can be made at BFG's discretion.

In general, the financial plan will address any or all of the following areas of concern:

- PERSONAL: Family records, budgeting, personal liability, estate information and financial goals.
- TAX & CASH FLOW: Income tax and spending analysis and planning for past, current, and future years. BFG will illustrate the impact of various investments on a client's current income tax and future tax liability.
- DEATH & DISABILITY: Cash needs at death, income needs of surviving dependents, estate planning and disability income analysis.
- RETIREMENT: Analysis of current strategies and investment plans to help the client achieve his or her retirement goals.
- INVESTMENTS: Analysis of investment alternatives and their effect on a client's portfolio.

BFG gathers required information through in-depth personal interviews. Information gathered includes a client's current financial status, future goals, and attitudes towards risk. Related documents supplied by the client are carefully reviewed, including a questionnaire completed by the client, and a written report is prepared. Should a client choose to implement the recommendations contained in the plan, BFG suggests the client work closely with his/her attorney, accountant, insurance agent, and/or stockbroker.

Implementation of financial plan recommendations is entirely at the client's discretion.

If a conflict of interest exists between the interests of BFG and the interests of the Client, the Client is under no obligation to act upon BFG's recommendation. If the Client elects to act on any of the recommendations, the Client is under no obligation to affect the transaction through BFG. Financial plans will be completed and delivered within ninety (90) days contingent upon timely delivery of all required documentation.

BFG tailors all services to meet the individual needs of our clients. The goals and objectives for each Client are documented in our Client files. Investment strategies are created that reflect the stated goals and objectives. Clients can impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities. These restrictions can, in some cases prohibit engagement with BFG.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT SERVICES:

The annual fee for Portfolio Management services will be charged as a percentage of assets under management, according to the following tiered schedule:

Assets Under Management	Annual Fee
$0 - $250,000	1.50%
$250,001 - $1,000,000	1.25%
Over $1,000,000	1.00%

This is a tiered or breakpoint fee schedule, meaning the entire account is charged the same management fee. The annual fee is negotiable based upon certain criteria (e.g., historical relationship, type of assets, anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amounts of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, negotiations with Clients, etc.). Fees are billed quarterly in advance based on the closing portfolio balance at the end of the previous quarter.

For example:

- A client that invests $100,000 will pay an annual fee of $1500 per year or $375 per quarter.
- A client that invests $300,000 will pay an annual fee of $3750 per year or $937.50 per quarter.
- A client that invests $1,000,000 will pay an annual fee of $10,000 per year or $2500 per quarter.

BFG will not make fee adjustments for contributions to and withdrawals from client accounts below $25,000. All fees paid to BFG for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds to their shareholders.

Held Away Account Management

BFG uses a third-party platform to facilitate management of held away assets such as defined contribution plan participant accounts, with discretion. The platform allows us to avoid being considered to have custody of Client funds since BFG does not have direct access to Client log-in credentials to affect trades. BFG is not affiliated with the platform in any way and receives no compensation from them for using their platform. A link will be provided to the Client allowing them to connect an account(s) to the platform. Once Client account(s) is connected to the platform, BFG will review the current account allocations. When deemed necessary, BFG will rebalance the account considering client investment goals and risk tolerance, and any change in allocations will consider current economic and market trends. The goal is to improve account performance over time, minimize loss during difficult markets, and manage internal fees that harm account performance. Client account(s) will be reviewed at least quarterly, and allocation changes will be made as deemed necessary.

PORTFOLIO ADVISORY SERVICES:

The annual fee for Portfolio Advisory Services will be charged as a percentage of assets under management, according to the following schedule:

Assets Under Management	Annual Fee
$0 - $100,000	1.50%
$100,001 - $1,000,000	1.25%
Over $1,000,000	1.00%

This is a tiered or breakpoint fee schedule, meaning the entire account is charged the same management fee. The annual fee is negotiable based upon certain criteria (e.g., historical relationship, type of assets, anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amounts of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, negotiations with Clients, etc.). Fees are billed quarterly in arrears based on the daily average balance of the advised accounts.

For example:

- A client that invests $100,000 will pay an annual fee of $1500 per year or $375 per quarter.
- A client that invests $300,000 will pay an annual fee of $3750 per year or $937.50 per quarter.
- A client that invests $1,000,000 will pay an annual fee of $10,000 per year or $2500 per quarter.

In 2021 and prior years BFG followed a separate fee schedule, which remains in effect with clients who signed agreements with BFG during such period and who have not agreed to an amended advisory fee schedule.

These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee.

RETIREMENT PLAN ADVISORY SERVICES:

The annual fee for Retirement Plan Advisory Services will be charged as a percentage of the plan assets under advisements, based on the following schedule:

Assets Under Management	Annual Fee
$0 - $1,000,000	1.00%

$1,000,001 - $3,000,000	0.75%
$3,000,001 - $5,000,000	0.50%
Over $5,000,000	0.25%

The annual fees are based on the market value of the Included Assets and shall not exceed 1%. Fees are charged quarterly or monthly in arrears or in advance based on the assets as calculated by the custodian or record keeper of the Included Assets (without adjustments for anticipated withdrawals by Plan participants or other anticipated or scheduled transfers or distribution of assets) on the last business day of the previous quarter. If the services to be provided start any time other than the first day of a quarter, the fee will be prorated based on the number of days remaining in the quarter. If the agreement is terminated prior to the end of the fee period, BFG shall be entitled to a prorated fee based on the number of days during the fee period services were provided.

The fee schedule, which includes compensation of BFG for the services is described in detail in the ERISA Plan Agreement. The Plan is obligated to pay the fees; however, the Plan Sponsor can elect to pay the fees. Each Client can elect to be billed directly or have fees deducted from Plan Assets. BFG does not reasonably expect to receive any additional compensation, directly or indirectly, for its services. If additional compensation is received, BFG will disclose this compensation, the services rendered, and the payer of compensation.

FINANCIAL PLANNING/CONSULTING SERVICES:

BFG charges an hourly or a fixed fee for financial planning and consulting. Prior to the planning process the Client will be provided an estimated plan fee. For hourly and fixed fee arrangements, services will be completed and delivered within ninety (90) days contingent upon timely delivery of all required documentation. BFG reserves the right to waive the fee should the Client implement the plan through BFG.

HOURLY FEES

Hourly Fee Services are offered based on an hourly fee of $200 per hour. If appropriate, an estimate for total hours is determined at the start of the advisory relationship.

FIXED FEES

Fixed Fee Services are offered based on a range of $400 - $3,200 depending on the complexity of the engagement. Up to 50% of the estimated fee is due upon signing the advisory agreement, with the balance (based on actual hours) due upon presentation of the plan or completion of the consulting work to the client.

GENERAL INFORMATION ON FEES AND SERVICES

Payment of Fees:

Portfolio Management Fees are deducted directly from the Client's Account.

Portfolio Advisory Fees are deducted directly from the Client's Account.

Financial Planning Fees are invoiced directly to the Client.

Retirement Plan Advisory Fees are determined by the Plan Client between directly invoiced or deducted directly from the Plan Account.

Negotiability of Fees and Account Minimums: In certain circumstances, all of BFG's fees and account minimums can be negotiable on a case-by-case basis. Fees will not be adjusted for additions or withdrawals of less than $25,000.

Termination of Advisory Relationship: A client agreement can be cancelled at any time, by either party, for any reason upon receipt of 30 day written notice. Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded. Also, any unpaid earned fees will be due and payable. The client has the right to terminate an agreement without penalty within five business days after entering into the agreement.

Mutual Fund Fees: All fees paid to BFG for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds to their shareholders. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client will pay an initial or deferred sales charge depending on the specific fund. A client could invest in mutual funds directly, without the services of BFG. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by BFG which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund or funds are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives.

Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and the fees charged by BFG to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client, and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided.

Advisory Fees in General: Clients should note that similar advisory services are available from other registered investment advisers for similar or lower fees.

Other Fees: BFG's fees are exclusive of brokerage commissions, transaction fees, and other related costs and expenses which shall be incurred by the client. Clients will incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, third-party investment and other third-parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to BFG's fee, and BFG does not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

BFG does not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Item 7 – Types of Clients

BFG provides advisory services to individuals, high net worth individuals, pension and profit-sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations and corporations or other business entities.

Generally, BFG requires a minimum of $250,000 of assets under management for this Portfolio Management services, and $100,000 for Portfolio Advisory services. These minimum portfolio sizes are negotiable under certain circumstances. BFG on a case-by-case basis can group certain related client accounts for the purposes of achieving the minimum account size and determining the annualized fee.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis:

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that Clients should be prepared to bear. Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns. Security analysis methods include:

Fundamental analysis concentrates on factors that determine a company's value and expected future earnings. This strategy would normally encourage equity purchases in stocks that are undervalued or priced below their perceived value. The risk assumed is that the market will fail to reach expectations of perceived value.

Technical analysis attempts to predict a future stock price or direction based on market trends. The assumption is that the market follows discernible patterns and if these patterns can be identified then a prediction can be made. The risk is that markets do not always follow patterns and relying solely on this method does not take into account new patterns that emerge over time.

Charting analysis strategy involves using and comparing various charts to predict long and short-term performance or market trends. The risk involved in using this method is that only past performance data is considered without using other methods to crosscheck data. Using charting analysis without other methods of analysis would be making the assumption that past performance will be indicative of future performance, which is not always the case.

Cyclical analysis assumes that the markets react in cyclical patterns which, once identified, can be leveraged to provide performance. The risks with this strategy are twofold: 1) the markets do not always repeat cyclical patterns; and 2) if too many investors begin to implement this strategy, then it changes the very cycles these investors are trying to exploit.

Quantitative analysis deals with measurable factors as distinguished from qualitative considerations such as the character of management or the state of employee morale, such as the value of assets, the cost of capital, historical projections of sales, and so on.

Modern portfolio theory is a theory of investment that attempts to maximize portfolio expected return for a given amount of portfolio risk, or equivalently minimize risk for a given level of expected return, each by carefully choosing the proportions of various assets.

In developing a financial plan for a Client, BFG's analysis can include cash flow analysis, investment planning, risk management, tax planning and estate planning. Based on the information gathered, a detailed strategy is tailored to the Client's specific situation.

The main sources of information include financial newspapers and magazines, annual reports, prospectuses, and filings with the SEC.

Investment Strategy:

The investment strategy for a specific Client is based upon the goals and objectives stated by the Client during consultations. The Client can change these objectives at any time by providing written notice to BFG or documented discussion with BFG. Each Client executes a Client profile form or similar form that documents their objectives and their desired investment strategy.

Risks of Investments and Strategies Utilized:

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that Clients should be prepared to bear. BFG's investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors can face the following investment risks:

General Investment and Trading Risks. Clients can invest in securities and other financial instruments using strategies and investment techniques with significant risk characteristics. The investment program utilizes such investment techniques as option transactions, margin transactions, short sales, leverage, and derivatives trading, the use of which can, in certain circumstances, maximize the adverse impact to which a Client is subject.

Interest-rate Risk. Fluctuations in interest rates can cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.

Inflation Risk. When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will buy more than a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.

Currency Risk. Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.

Reinvestment Risk. This is the risk that future proceeds from investments have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e., interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.

Liquidity Risk. Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.

Management Risk. The advisor's investment approach can fail to produce the intended results. If the advisor's assumptions regarding the performance of a specific asset class or fund are not realized in the expected time frame, the overall performance of the Client's portfolio can suffer.

Options Trading. The risks involved with trading options are that they are very time sensitive investments. An options contract is generally for a few months. The buyer of an option could lose his or her entire investment even with a correct prediction about the direction and magnitude of a particular price change if the price change does not occur in the relevant time period (i.e., before the option expires). Additionally, options are less tangible than some other investments. An option is a "book-entry" only investment without a paper certificate of ownership.

Trading on Margin. In a cash account, the risk is limited to the amount of money that has been invested. In a margin account, risk includes the amount of money invested plus the amount that has been loaned. As market conditions fluctuate, the value of marginable securities will also fluctuate, causing a change in the overall account balance and debt ratio. As a result, if the value of the securities held in a margin account depreciates, the Client will be required to deposit additional cash or make full payment of the margin loan to bring the account back up to maintenance levels. Clients who cannot comply with such a margin call will be sold out or bought in by the brokerage firm.

Exchange-Traded Funds. ETFs are a type of index fund bought and sold on a securities exchange. The risks of owning an ETF generally reflect the risks of owning the underlying securities they are designed to track, although lack of liquidity in an ETF could result in it being more volatile and ETFs have management fees that increase their costs. ETFs are also subject to other risks, including: (i) the risk that their prices do not correlate perfectly with changes in the underlying reference units; and (ii) the risk of possible trading halts due to market conditions or other reasons that, in the view of the exchange upon which an ETF trades, would make trading in the ETF inadvisable.

Mutual Fund Risks. An investment in mutual funds could lose money over short or even long periods. A mutual fund's share price and total return are expected to fluctuate within a wide range, like the fluctuations of the overall stock market.

Common Stocks and Equity-Related Securities. Certain ETFs or mutual funds hold common stock. Prices of common stock react to the economic condition of the company that issued the security, industry and market conditions, and other factors which can fluctuate widely. Investments related to the value of stocks can rise and fall based on an issuer's actual and anticipated earnings, changes in management, the potential for takeovers and acquisitions, and other economic factors. Similarly, the value of other equity-related securities, including preferred stock, warrants, and options may also vary widely.

Small- and Mid-Cap Risks. Certain ETFs and mutual funds hold securities of small- and mid-cap issuers. Securities of small-cap issuers may present greater risks than those of large-cap issuers. For example, some small- and mid-cap issuers often have limited product lines, markets, or financial resources. They may be subject to high volatility in revenues, expenses, and earnings. Their securities can be thinly traded, and be followed by fewer investment research analysts, and can be subject to wider price swings and thus can create a greater chance of loss than when investing in securities of larger-cap issuers. The market prices of securities of small- and mid-cap issuers generally are more sensitive to changes in earnings expectations, to corporate developments, and to market rumors than are the market prices of large-cap issuers.

Futures, Commodities, and Derivative Investments. Certain ETFs and mutual funds hold commodities, commodities contracts, and/or derivative instruments, including futures, options, and swap agreements. The prices of commodities contracts and derivative instruments, including futures and options, are highly volatile. Payments made pursuant to swap agreements can also be highly volatile. Price movements of commodities, futures and options contracts, and payments pursuant to swap agreements are influenced by, among other things, interest rates, changing supply and demand relationships, trade, fiscal, monetary and exchange control programs and policies of governments, and national and international political and economic events and policies. The value of futures, options, and swap agreements also depends upon the price of the commodities underlying them. In addition, Client assets are subject to the risk of the failure of any of the exchanges on which its positions trade or of its clearinghouses or counterparties.

Highly Volatile Markets. The prices of financial instruments can be highly volatile. Price movements of forward and other derivative contracts are influenced by, among other things, interest rates, changing supply and demand relationships, trade, fiscal, monetary and exchange control programs and policies of governments, and national and international political and economic events and policies. Clients are also subject to the risk of failure of any of the exchanges on which their positions trade or of its clearinghouses.

Non-U.S. Securities. Certain ETFs and mutual funds hold securities of non-U.S. issuers. Investments in securities of non-U.S. issuers pose a range of potential risks which could include expropriation, confiscatory taxation, imposition of withholding or other taxes on dividends, interest, capital gains or other income, political or social instability, illiquidity, price volatility, and market manipulation. In addition, less information can be available regarding securities of non-U.S. issuers, and non-U.S. issuers are not always subject to accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards, and requirements comparable to or as uniform as those of U.S. issuers.

Emerging Markets. Certain ETFs and mutual funds hold securities of emerging markets issuers. In addition to the risks associated with investments outside of the United States, investments in emerging markets (i.e., the developing countries) can involve additional risks. Emerging markets generally are not as efficient as those in developed countries. In some cases, a market for the security does not exist locally, and transactions will need to be made on a neighboring exchange. Volume and liquidity levels in emerging markets are lower than in developed countries. When seeking to sell emerging market securities, little or no market can exist for the securities. In addition, issuers based in emerging markets are not generally subject to uniform accounting and financial reporting standards, practices, and requirements comparable to those applicable to issuers based in developed countries, thereby potentially increasing the risk of fraud or other deceptive practices.

Capitalization Risks. Investing in Companies within the same market capitalization category carries the risk that the category can be out of favor due to current market conditions or investor sentiment.

Market Risks. Turbulence in the financial markets and reduced liquidity can negatively affect the Companies, which could have an adverse effect on each of them. If the securities of the Companies experience poor liquidity, investors will be unable to transact at advantageous times or prices, which can decrease the Company's returns. In addition, there is a risk that policy changes by central governments and governmental agencies, including the Federal Reserve or the European Central Bank, which could include increasing interest rates, could cause increased volatility in financial markets, which could have a negative impact on the Companies. Furthermore, local, regional, or global events such as war, acts of terrorism, the spread of infectious illness or other public health issues, recessions, or other events could have a significant impact on the Companies. For example, the rapid and global spread of a highly contagious novel coronavirus respiratory disease, designated COVID-19, resulted in extreme volatility in the financial markets and severe losses; reduced liquidity of many Companies' securities; restrictions on international and, in some cases, local travel; significant disruptions to business operations (including business closures); strained healthcare systems; disruptions to supply chains, consumer demand and employee availability; and widespread uncertainty regarding the duration and long-term effects of this pandemic. Some sectors of the economy and individual issuers have experienced particularly large losses. In addition, the COVID-19 pandemic did result in an economic downturn. The Companies' values could decline over short periods due to short-term market movements and over longer periods during market downturns.

The foregoing list of risk factors does not purport to be a complete enumeration or explanation of the risks involved in an investment with BFG.

BFG's strategies do not utilize securities that BFG believes would be classified as having any unusual risks, and BFG does not recommend frequent trading, which can increase brokerage and other costs and taxes.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

BFG and its management have not been involved in any criminal or civil actions, administrative or self-regulatory enforcement proceedings, nor any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a Client's or prospective Client's evaluation of BFG or the integrity of its management.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Neither BFG nor its representatives are registered, and does not have an application pending to register, as a broker-dealer or a registered representative of a broker-dealer. Further, neither BFG nor its representatives have an application pending to register, as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, a commodity trading advisor, or an associated person of the foregoing entities.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading BFG has adopted a Code of Ethics expressing the firm's commitment to ethical conduct. BFG's Code of Ethics describes the firm's fiduciary duties and responsibilities to clients and sets forth BFG's practice of supervising the personal securities transactions of employees with access to client information. Individuals associated with BFG can buy or sell securities for their personal accounts identical or different than those recommended to clients. It is the expressed policy of BFG that no person employed by the firm shall prefer his or her own interest to that of an advisory client or make personal investment decisions based on investment decisions of advisory clients. Neither BFG nor its related persons recommend to Clients, or buys or sells for Client accounts, securities in which BFG or a related person has a material financial interest.

To supervise compliance with its Code of Ethics, BFG requires that anyone associated with this advisory practice with access to advisory recommendations provide annual securities holding reports and quarterly transaction reports to the firm's principal. BFG also requires such access persons to receive approval from the Chief Compliance Officer prior to investing in any IPO's or private placements (limited offerings).

BFG's Code of Ethics further includes the firm's policy prohibiting the use of material non- public information and protecting the confidentiality of client information. BFG requires that all individuals must act in accordance with all applicable Federal and State regulations governing registered investment advisory practices. Any individual not in observance of the above can be subject to discipline.

BFG will provide a complete copy of its Code of Ethics to any client or prospective upon request.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

BFG requires the use of a specific broker-dealers. BFG selected their broker based on a number of factors including but not limited to their relatively low transaction fees, quality of customer service, and reporting ability. BFG relies on the broker-dealer to provide its execution services at the best prices available. Lower fees for comparable services can be available from other sources. Clients pay for any and all custodial fees in addition to the advisory fee charged by BGF. Not all advisers require clients to direct the use of a particular broker dealer.

Research and Other Soft Dollar Benefits

BFG does not receive soft dollar benefits. However, BFG participates in the Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services (FIWS) program, sponsored by Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC (“Fidelity”), a FINRA member broker dealer. Clients in need of brokerage and custodial services will have either Fidelity and/or National Financial Services, LLC (“National Financial”), an affiliate of Fidelity, recommended to them. BFG does not receive any Soft Dollar Benefits; however, as part of the FIWS program, BFG receives other benefits that it would not receive if it did not offer investment advice (See the disclosure under Item 14 of this Brochure). These benefits include technology and research.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

BFG does not receive Client referrals from any custodian or third-party in exchange for using that broker-dealer or third party.

Directed Brokerage

BFG does not allow Client directed brokerage.

Best Execution

Investment advisors who manage or supervise Client portfolios have a fiduciary obligation of best execution. The determination of what can constitute best execution and price in the execution of a securities transaction by a broker involves a number of considerations and is subjective. Factors affecting brokerage selection include the overall direct net economic result to the portfolios, the efficiency with which the transaction is effected, the ability to affect the transaction where a large block is involved, the operational facilities of the broker-dealer, the value of an ongoing relationship with such broker and the financial strength and stability of the broker. The firm does not receive any portion of the trading fees.

Aggregating Trading for Multiple Client Accounts

BFG does not aggregate trades.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT SERVICES:

While the underlying securities within the Portfolio Management Services accounts are continuously monitored, James Thibault, Managing Partner of BFG, reviews these accounts for rebalancing opportunities on a monthly basis, and for a full performance review at least on a quarterly basis. Accounts are reviewed in the context of each client's stated investment objectives and guidelines.

Changes in variables such as market, political or economic circumstances, or changes in a client's individual financial objectives or circumstances can trigger more frequent reviews.

PORTFOLIO ADVISORY SERVICES:

Depending on the circumstance, the underlying investment securities, or the independent investment adviser(s) will be continuously monitored. In addition, James Thibault, Managing Partner of BFG, reviews these accounts on at least an annual basis, or more often as requested by the client.

Changes in variables such as market, political or economic circumstances, or changes in a client's individual financial objectives or circumstances can trigger more frequent reviews.

RETIREMENT PLAN ADVISORY SERVICES:

Plan assets are reviewed as necessary, and according to the standards and situations described above for investment management accounts.

NATURE AND FREQUENCY OF REPORTS

PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT SERVICES:

BFG will provide a quarterly inventory of holding by asset class to its clients.

PORTFOLIO ADVISORY SERVICES:

The account custodian will send quarterly statements directly to the client.

RETIREMENT PLAN ADVISORY SERVICES:

Clients utilizing BFG's employee benefit retirement plan services receive reporting services through their respective plan administrator.

FINANCIAL PLANNING/CONSULTING SERVICES:

Financial Planning clients will receive a completed financial plan. Additional reports will not typically be provided unless otherwise contracted for. Consulting Services clients will not typically receive reports due to the nature of the service.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

As indicated under the disclosure for Item 12, the FIWS program provides BFG with access to services designed to assist investment advisers that are not available to retail investors. These services are generally available to investment advisers at no charge.

The services provided by FIWS benefit BFG but do not always benefit its clients' accounts. Many of the products and services assist BFG in managing and administering clients' accounts. These include software and other technology that provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements), facilitate trade execution (and allocation of aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts), provide research, pricing information and other market data, facilitate payment of BFG's fees from its clients' accounts, and assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting. Many of these services generally are used to service all or a substantial number of BFG's accounts.

Recommended brokers also make available to BFG other services intended to help BFG manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services can include consulting, publications and conferences on practice management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance, and marketing. BFG does not, however, enter into any commitments with the brokers for transaction levels in exchange for any services or products from brokers. While as a fiduciary, BFG endeavors to act in its clients' best interests, BFG's requirement that clients maintain their assets in accounts at Schwab or Fidelity is based in part on the benefit to BFG of the availability of some of the foregoing products and services and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by the brokers.

BFG does not compensate for Client referrals.

Item 15 – Custody

BFG can be deemed to have limited custody solely because advisory fees are directly deducted from Client's accounts by the custodian on behalf of BFG.

Clients should receive at least quarterly statements from the broker dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains client's investment assets. BFG urges clients to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the account statements that we provide to you. Our statements can vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

BFG is not affiliated with the custodian. The custodian does not supervise BFG, its employees or activities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

For Portfolio Management Services, BFG requires discretionary authority to determine which securities and the amounts of securities that are bought or sold. Any limitations on this discretionary authority shall be included in this written authority statement. Clients can change/amend these limitations as required. Such amendments shall be submitted in writing.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy and practice, BFG does not have any authority to and does not vote proxies on behalf of advisory clients. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in client portfolios. Nevertheless, BFG can provide advice to clients regarding the clients' voting of proxies, upon request

Item 18 – Financial Information

BFG does not require nor solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 (SEC) in fees per Client, six months or more in advance.

BFG has no financial commitment that impairs its ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to clients and has not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
