Item 4. Services, Fees and Compensation

Vault's Wrap Program ("Program") is a unique investment opportunity offered to clients of Vault among its suite of available investment advisory services. As a "wrap fee program," Vault offers investment advisory services in addition to arranging brokerage services for an all-inclusive fee. Fees charged for WRAP account services vary between 1-5% depending on assets under management, types of assets traded and account performance.

A complete description of the investment advisory, brokerage, custody and other Program services, fees, the respective roles of Vault and the Strategists, conflicts of interest, and other important information regarding the Program is available by contacting admin@vaultcapital.org. The program may cost the client more or less than purchasing such services separately. Factors that bear upon the relative cost of the program, such as the cost of the services if provided separately and the trading activity in the client's account may vary depending on types of assets traded, performance-based fees and assets under management.

You should also be aware of the differences between the fee-based services outlined in this Brochure for ongoing management of accounts and commission-based services that may be separately available for unmanaged brokerage accounts. To assist you with assessing these differences, we make available a document entitled "Which Account Type Is Right For You?" that we encourage you to review online through Interactive Brokers client portal. A copy of this document is available online.

Following are disclosures which are formatted to comply with the regulations governing the preparation of this Brochure.

You may also request a copy of Vault's Form ADV Part 2A if you wish to learn more information about other investment advisory services we offer.

Item 5. Account Requirements and Types of Clients

The minimum account balance to participate in Vault's sponsored WRAP program is $1,500,000 for individuals, and $3,000,000 for corporations, however, this minimum may be waived by Vault's Chief Compliance Officer. If your Program account falls below the minimum investment requirement due to personal withdrawals, expenses, or for other reasons, you may be required to contribute additional funds to avoid having your account liquidated.

Item 6. Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

Clients may select a portfolio manager dependent on their risk preferences, investment objectives and financial resources. Fees that the client may pay in addition to the wrap fee may include fees such as, if applicable, mutual fund expenses and mark-ups, mark-downs, or spreads paid to market makers. And fees paid to your portfolio manager.

Item 7. Client Information Provided to Portfolio Managers

Client information may be shared with client selected/approved portfolio managers, and may include investment objectives, risk tolerance, investment experience, financial resources, employment status, proof of income and government issued ID. This information may be shared with Vault's internal staff or your external advisor whenever there is a change to this information.

Item 8. Client Contact with Portfolio Managers

Clients may be able to select their portfolio manager/investing preferences through Vault's online interactive website at Interactive Brokers LLC.

Item 9. Additional Information Disciplinary Information

Conflicts of Interest

Vault may provide performance-based compensation to certain of its Home Office employees related to their promotion of our WRAP Program since it generates more revenue for Vault than unaffiliated programs. These incentives may result in your portfolio having greater exposure and marketing support for the WRAP Program over other programs.

Code of Ethics, Participation, Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Vault maintains a Code of Ethics in compliance with SEC requirements that is available upon request from Vault. The Code of Ethics applies to all Vault Representatives and covered personnel and is designed to ensure we fulfill our fiduciary duty to clients by always acting in their best interest, avoiding conflicts of interest, and maintaining a strong culture of compliance by following all securities laws, rules and regulations. Among the specific areas addressed by our Code of Ethics as it relates to our Representatives and covered personnel are:

- Pre-approval and reporting of personal securities transactions;
- Restrictions on initial public offering and private placement purchases to prevent unfair investment advantage;
- Insider trading prohibitions to prevent use of non-public information for unfair investment advantage;
- Reporting of gifts and business entertainment; and
- Penalties assessed for Code of Ethics violations to ensure its enforcement.

Under the Program, Vault will may engage in principal transactions (where we enter a purchase or sale of securities with clients on behalf of our own account) or cross-agency transactions (where we broker the purchase or sale of securities between advisory clients). However, we may aggregate transactions for our accounts or the accounts of others involving the same investments recommended to clients under the Program. We strive to act in good faith and attempt to allocate investment opportunities to clients over a period on a fair and reasonable basis relative to other clients and our own accounts.

Review of Accounts

These ongoing reviews may be triggered by concerns regarding compliance concerns in relation to a client's financial situation, goals and objectives, among other factors. We also review the investment results of client portfolios on a regular basis and, where appropriate. We will communicate with clients at least annually, in addition to reminding clients at least quarterly, to confirm any changes to their financial situation, goals and objectives, as well as any social exclusions or investment restrictions. It is extremely important that clients promptly notify us of any such changes to ensure the suitability of their investments.

In addition, Vault provides clients with written periodic performance reports that include relevant portfolio information, such as asset allocation, account transactions, securities positions, the fair market values of investments in client portfolios, investment performance for the period, and advance billing notification. Vault does not verify performance data provided to it by third parties creating these reports such that you should rely on the account statements you receive from the custodian of your assets as the official record of your investments. You should review any questions you have regarding these reports through Vault's primary clearinghouse.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Vault may receive compensation from the Strategists selected to participate in the Program for promoting and administering the Program. Vault may also receive a portion of the amount administration and shareholder servicing fees paid in connection with the sale of certain mutual funds that may be selected for investment within your Program account. These forms of compensation are in addition to client advisory fees we receive and create a financial incentive to recommend the Program and certain investments versus other investment advisory options or products we offer, based on potential compensation received rather than on a client's needs. We closely monitor investment portfolios and all forms of direct and indirect compensation received to ensure they act in compliance with our policies and procedures, industry standards, and all securities laws, rules and regulations governing sales compensation practices.

Vault Privacy Policy

We encourage you to review our Privacy Policy as described in New Account Form relative to our processes for gathering and using your personal information, entities with whom we may share this information, and our security practices and procedures for maintenance of information.
