

Tuczinski Gilchrist
Tingley Cavalier Ferradino
ATTORNEYS AT LAW

Roland M. Cavalier
Troy Office
rcavalier@tgtflegal.com
(518) 238-3759 ext. 208

July 17, 2017

VIA FEDERAL EXPRESS AND EMAIL

Mr. Brent J. Fields, Secretary
U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission
100 F. Street, N.E.
Washington, D.C. 20549

Re: In the Matter of Donald J. Anthony, Jr., et al., Administrative Proceeding File No. 3-15514

Recent Legal Developments Affecting the Initial Decision

Dear Mr. Fields:

We represent Respondent Frank Chiappone. Recently, there have been significant legal developments that directly affect the Initial Decision, as subsequently corrected, since the separate appeals to the Commission were fully briefed by the parties more than a year and a half ago.

We provide this letter to identify those legal developments and their impact on the Initial Decision with respect to Mr. Chiappone. We request that this letter be provided to the Commissioners and filed of record on the docket in this proceeding. Four copies are enclosed.

1. Kokesh v. SEC

On June 5, 2017, the United States Supreme Court held in Kokesh that "Disgorgement in the securities-enforcement context is a 'penalty' within the meaning of § 2462, and so any orders requiring disgorgement of commissions earned can only be made with respect to sales that took place within five years of date that the Order Instituting Proceeding was filed." Kokesh, 581 U.S. ____ (2017), slip op. at 1.

While Mr. Chiappone maintains the evidence did not support a finding that he had violated any securities law or is liable for any disgorgement, under Kokesh, the disgorgement amounts for him must, at minimum, be reduced. For Mr. Chiappone, the disgorgement must be reduced from $59,471 to $23,329.

Mr. Chiappone maintains that, as a matter of law, neither the courts nor the Commission may impose disgorgement for any period of time even within the 5 year statute of limitations of § 2462. See Kokesh, slip op at 5 n. 3 ("Nothing in this opinion should be

---

Troy Office

Mail: P.O. Box 28, Troy, New York 12181
Delivery: 500 Federal Street, 4th Fl., Troy, New York 12180
Phone: (518) 238-3759 Fax: (518) 426-5067

Saratoga Office

63 Putnam Street, Suite 202
Saratoga Springs, New York 12866
Phone: (518) 444-0226 Fax: (518) 426-5067

interpreted as an opinion on whether courts possess authority to order disgorgement in SEC enforcement proceedings or on whether courts have properly applied disgorgement principles in this context.”). Whether courts possess such authority or not, neither the Commission nor its ALJs have any constitutional authority to grant equitable remedies, a point expressly noted in Respondents’ prior submission to the Commission. See Joint Brief Addressing Certain Legal Issues in Accordance with the Commission’s Order at 9 (citing U.S. Const. Art. III, §§ 1, 2).

2. Bartko v. SEC

On January 17, 2017, the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia held that the Commission could not retroactively apply the Dodd Frank Act to impose a collateral bar on conduct that occurred prior to its passage in July 2010. The D.C. Circuit Court vacated collateral bars against Bartko, who was associated only with a broker-dealer at the time of his securities law violations, from association with investment advisers, municipal securities dealers, transfer agents, municipal advisors, and nationally recognized statistical rating organizations.

The Commission has announced its determination not to seek further review of the Bartko decision and has invited respondents to request that the Commission issue an order vacating bars where the relevant conduct occurred before July 22, 2010.

The Division of Enforcement’s allegations in its OIP in this matter (Matter of Donald J. Anthony, Jr. et al.) concerned alleged securities law violations from 2003 to 2009. With respect to Mr. Chiappone’s conduct, the OIP alleged securities law violations in his capacity as registered representatives of a broker-dealer. The collateral bars in the Initial Decision went beyond association with a broker-dealer, but also included all of the other bars imposed in Bartko, despite the fact that all of the alleged violations pre-dated the Dodd Frank Act’s July 22, 2010 effective date.

The collateral bars beyond association with a broker-dealer cannot be imposed under Bartko and Commission’s determination not to seek further review of Bartko.

Mr. Chiappone maintains that, in light of the evidence, as well as the Steadman factors (603 F.2d 1126, 1137 (5th Cir. 1179), aff’d on other grounds, 450 U.S. 91 (1981)), no bar is warranted. Mr. Chiappone further notes that in the 7 ½ years since he left McGinn Smith & Co., he has never sold a single private placement security, strong evidence that the investing public is not at risk that he will ever again sell proprietary products.

3. Bandimere v. SEC; Lucia v. SEC

On December 27, 2016, the United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit held that SEC ALJs are inferior officers who must be constitutionally appointed. Bandimere v. SEC, 844 F.3d 1168, 1170 (10th Cir. 2016) (citing Freytag v. Comm’r of Internal Revenue, 501 U.S. 868 (1991)). The Tenth Circuit observed:

SEC ALJs “are more than mere aids” to the agency.... They “perform more than ministerial tasks.” The Governing Statutes and regulations give them duties comparable to the STJ’s duties described in Freytag. SEC ALJs carry out “important Functions,” and “exercis[e] significant authority pursuant to the laws of the United States.” The SEC’s power to review its ALJs does not transform them not lesser functionaries. Rather, it shows the ALJs are inferior officers subordinate to the SEC commissioners.

Id. at 1188 (internal citations omitted). Although the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals reached a different conclusion months earlier, see Raymond J. Lucia Cos. v. SEC, 832 F.3d 277 (D.C. Cir. 2016), a petition for a rehearing en banc was subsequently granted in a per curiam order, see Raymond J. Lucia Cos. v. SEC, 2017 U.S. App. LEXIS 2732 (D.C. Cir. Feb. 16, 2017). Ultimately, an equally divided panel of ten D.C. Circuit judges denied the petition for review. See Raymond J. Lucia Cos. v. SEC, 2017 U.S. App. LEXIS 11298 (D.C. Cir. June 26, 2017).

It is anticipated that Bandimere and Lucia will be appealed to the Supreme Court. Mr. Chiappone maintains that the SEC ALJ in this proceeding was not constitutionally appointed, and that, for other reasons, detailed in each of their prior submissions, this proceeding should not have been brought against either of them in any forum, let alone as an administrative proceeding.

We appreciate the Commission’s attention to these developments and their affect on the Initial Decision.

Respectfully submitted,

TUCZINSKI, GILCHRIST,
TINGLEY, CAVALIER & FERDINANO, P.C.

By

Roland M. Cavalier

RMC/mc

Enclosures

Mr. Brent J. Fields

July 17, 2017

Page 4 of 4

cc: David Stoelting, Esq. (stoeltingd@sec.gov)
Haimavathi Varadan Marlier, Esq. (marlierh@sec.gov)
Michael D. Birnbaum, Esq. (birnbaumm@sec.gov)
By Email

Gilbert B. Abramson, Esq. (gabramson@gbalaw.com)
Matthew J. Nielsen, Esq. (mnielsen@stantonllp.com)
Mark J. Astarita, Esq. (mja@sallahlaw.com)
By Email

Frank Chiappone (fchiappone@dlgwm.com)