Our Top Penny Stock Today – IVVI Up 3500%

October 8, 2010 - publisher

Hey PennyStockWiz Readers,

Today's BIG Penny Stock Play: (IVVI)

Total Profit: +3519%

Ivivi Technologies, Inc. (PINK: IVVI) is by far the best example of how you can profit enormously from pump and dump penny stocks. Not to mention our BEST STOCK PICK YET!!! Which racked up over 4000% for our subscribers! $IVVI had a measly float of only 2.88 million shares and opened up at .01 with a high of .14. The only thing this penny stock had going for it was a small float and a little promotion. Which in the right combination can go a long way! This stock also presents a great opportunity for shorting next week so be on the lookout.

Ivivi Technologies, Inc. is a medical technology company, engages in designing, developing, and commercializing electrotherapeutic technologies for the chronic wound, plastic and reconstructive surgery, and other therapeutic medical markets. Its pulsed electromagnetic field (tPEMF) technology utilizes a magnetic field to create a therapeutic electrical field in injured tissue; and provides electrochemical information, which modulates relevant biochemical pathways. The company's tPEMF signals are used to enhance the specific physiological processes, including that generate the body's natural anti-inflammatory response and tissue repair. Its products include SofPulse M-10, Roma, and Torino PEMF products that utilize tPEMF technology to treat edema and pain in soft tissue. The company's products consist of three components: tPEMF signal, signal generator, and applicators. The signal generator produces a specific tPEMF signal that is pulsed through the applicator. The applicator transmits the tPEMF signal into the soft tissue target, penetrating medical dressings, casts, coverings, clothing, and other non-metal materials. Its products are used for the treatment of acute or chronic wounds, including serious trauma wounds, failed surgical closures, amputations, pressure ulcers, and post surgical wounds; edema and pain following plastic and reconstructive surgery procedures; and pain associated with the inflammatory phase of chronic conditions. Ivivi Technologies, Inc. sells and rents its products to nursing facilities, rehabilitation hospitals, acute care hospitals and facilities, and home health care systems through third-party distributors, contract therapy service companies in the United States, Canada, and the European Union. Ivivi Technologies, Inc. was founded in 1989 and is headquartered in Montvale, New Jersey.

Our Penny Stocks Trading Strategy

We're constantly looking for penny stocks that are being "promoted". We find that promoted stocks, i.e. "pump and dumps" have the most volatility and therefore provide the best opportunity for high returns.

They also have the highest degree of risk. That being the case we always emphasize to our members that these are extremely short term plays as opposed to long term investments.
