I am writing in hope that the SEC would fix the short sale position reporting and disclosure for OTC issues problem that has existed for so long. The SEC is supposed to protect the investor, but instead has protected the market maker. This is not right or good.

I am sure you are well aware of the problem I am speaking of and I know that we, the investors are not going to remain silent on this issue any longer. We are a strong force and we are speaking out.

Now is the time for the SEC to clean house and start doing what you are supposed to do, protect us from the corruption in the markets. Respectfully, Norman Wimberg
