I was told to write to you regarding the after hour trading of Mutual Funds by institutions and the "big boys".

I, my friends, and family are small purchasers of Mutual Fund and expect the SEC to stop the after illegal trading in the after hours.

The Boston Globe had an article several weeks ago that stated that the SEC had a meeting and were considering solutions including a U.S. Post Office "electronic verification system" (Electronic Postmark?)

If this works jump on it and now, not later. We do not trust the mutual fund industry to police themselves but do trust electronics and the U.S. Post Office Act soon before we are taken over by the mutual fund industry. Thank you
