A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

Section 15A(g)(3) of the Act⁸ authorizes FINRA to prescribe standards of training, experience, and competence for persons associated with FINRA members. In accordance with that provision, FINRA has developed examinations that are designed to establish that persons associated with FINRA members have attained specified levels of competence and knowledge, consistent with applicable registration requirements under FINRA rules. FINRA periodically reviews the content of the examinations to determine whether revisions are necessary or appropriate in view of changes pertaining to the subject matter covered by the examinations.

The SEC recently approved a proposed rule change to restructure the FINRA representative-level qualification examination program.⁹ The rule change, which will become effective on October 1, 2018,¹⁰ restructures the examination program into a new format whereby all new representative-level applicants will be required to take a general knowledge examination (the Securities Industry Essentials or SIETM) and a tailored, specialized knowledge examination (a revised representative-level qualification examination) for their particular registered role.

The restructured program eliminates duplicative testing of general securities knowledge on the current representative-level qualification examinations by moving such content into the ⁹ See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 81098 (July 7, 2017), 82 FR 32419 (July 13, 2017) (Order Approving File No. SR-FINRA-2017-007).

¹⁰ See Regulatory Notice 17-30 (SEC Approves Consolidated FINRA Registration Rules, Restructured Representative-Level Qualification Examinations and Changes to Continuing Education Requirements) (October 2017).

SIE examination.¹¹ The SIE examination will test fundamental securities-related knowledge, including knowledge of basic products, the structure and function of the securities industry, the regulatory agencies and their functions and regulated and prohibited practices, whereas the revised representative-level qualification examinations will test knowledge relevant to day-to-day activities, responsibilities and job functions of representatives.¹²

As part of the restructuring process and in consultation with a committee of industry representatives, FINRA undertook a review of the Investment Banking Representative (Series 79) examination to remove the general securities knowledge currently covered on the examination and to create a tailored examination to test knowledge relevant to the day-to-day activities, responsibilities and job functions of an Investment Banking Representative. As a result of this review, FINRA also is proposing to revise the Series 79 content outline to reflect changes to the laws, rules and regulations covered by the examination and to incorporate the functions and associated tasks currently performed by an Investment Banking Representative. The proposed change will align the organization of the Series 79 content outline with the organization of the content outlines of the other revised representative-level examinations.¹³ In addition, FINRA is proposing to make other changes to the format of the Series 79 content outline.

¹¹ Each of the current representative-level examinations covers general securities knowledge, with the exception of the Research Analyst (Series 86 and 87) examinations.

¹² FINRA filed the SIE content outline with the SEC for immediate effectiveness. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 82578 (January 24, 2018), 83 FR 4375 (January 30, 2018) (Notice of Filing and Immediate Effectiveness of File No. SR-FINRA-2018-002). In addition to the proposed rule change relating to the revised Series 79 examination, FINRA will file with the Commission for immediate effectiveness the content outlines for the other revised representative-level qualification examinations.

Beginning on October 1, 2018, new applicants seeking to register as Investment Banking Representatives must pass the SIE examination and the revised Investment Banking Representative (Series 79) examination.

Current Content Outline

The current Series 79 content outline is divided into four sections. The following are the four sections, denoted Section 1 through Section 4, with the associated number of questions:

1. Collection, Analysis, and Evaluation of Data, 75 questions;
2. Underwriting/New Financing Transactions, Types of Offerings and Registration of Securities, 43 questions;
3. Mergers and Acquisitions, Tender Offers and Financial Restructuring Transactions, 34 questions; and
4. General Securities Industry Regulations, 23 questions.

In addition, each section includes references to the applicable laws, rules and regulations associated with that section. The current content outline also includes a preface (addressing, among other things, the purpose, administration and scoring of the examination), sample questions and reference materials.

Revised Content Outline

As noted above, FINRA is proposing to move the general securities knowledge currently covered on the Series 79 examination to the SIE examination. For example, FINRA Rule 3220 (Influencing or Rewarding Employees of Others) (the Gifts Rule) will now be tested on the SIE examination, rather than on the Series 79 examination. As a result, the revised Series 79 examination will test knowledge specific to the day-to-day activities, responsibilities and job functions of an Investment Banking Representative.

Further, FINRA is proposing to reorganize the content outline by dividing it into three major job functions that are performed by an Investment Banking Representative. The following are the three major job functions, denoted Function 1 through Function 3, with the associated number of questions:

Function 1: Collection, Analysis and Evaluation of Data, 37 questions;

Function 2: Underwriting and New Financing Transactions, Types of Offerings and Registration of Securities, 20 questions; and Function 3: Mergers and Acquisitions, Tender Offers and Financial Restructuring Transactions, 18 questions.

FINRA also is proposing to adjust the number of questions assigned to each major job function to ensure that the overall examination better reflects the key tasks performed by an Investment Banking Representative. The questions on the revised Series 79 examination will place emphasis on tasks such as advising on or facilitating debt or equity offerings through a private placement or public offering, and advising or facilitating mergers and acquisitions, tender offers, financial restructurings and asset sales.

Each function also includes specific tasks describing activities associated with performing that function. There are three tasks (1.1 – 1.3) associated with Function 1;¹⁴ six tasks (2.1 – 2.6) associated with Function 2;¹⁵ and six tasks (3.1 – 3.6) associated with Function 3.¹⁶

¹⁴ See Exhibit 3a, Outline Pages 3-6. The outline is attached as Exhibit 3a to the 19b-4 form.

¹⁵ See Exhibit 3a, Outline Pages 7-11.

¹⁶ See Exhibit 3a, Outline Pages 12-15.

For example, one such task (Task 1.3) is conducting due diligence.¹⁷ Further, the content outline lists the knowledge required to perform each function and associated tasks (e.g., due diligence processes on both the buy- and sell-sides). In addition, where applicable, the content outline lists the laws, rules and regulations a candidate is expected to know to perform each function and associated tasks (e.g., SEC Rule 135a).

FINRA also is proposing to revise the content outline to reflect changes to the laws, rules and regulations covered by the examination. Among other revisions, FINRA is proposing to revise the content outline to reflect the adoption of new FINRA rules (e.g., FINRA Rule 5131 (New Issue Allocations and Distributions)).

FINRA is proposing similar changes to the Series 79 selection specifications and question bank.

Finally, FINRA is proposing to make other changes to the format of the content outline, including to the preface, sample questions and reference materials.¹⁸ Among other changes, FINRA is proposing to: (1) reduce the preface to one page of introductory information; (2) streamline details regarding the purpose of the examination; (3) move the application procedures to FINRA's website; and (4) explain that the passing score is established using a standard setting procedure, and that a statistical adjustment process known as equating is used in scoring the examination.¹⁹

¹⁷ See Exhibit 3a, Outline Pages 5-6.

¹⁸ FINRA is proposing similar changes to the content outlines for other representative-level examinations.

As a result of the proposed changes, the number of scored questions on the Series 79 examination will be reduced from 175 questions to 75 questions.²⁰ Further, the test time, which is the amount of time candidates will have to complete the examination, will be reduced from five hours to two hours and 30 minutes. Currently, a score of 73 percent is required to pass the examination. FINRA will publish the passing score of the revised Series 79 examination on its website, at www.finra.org, prior to its first administration.

Availability of Content Outline

The current Series 79 content outline is available on FINRA's website. The revised Series 79 content outline will replace the current content outline on FINRA's website, and it will be made available on the website on the date of this filing.

FINRA is filing the proposed rule change for immediate effectiveness. The implementation date will be October 1, 2018, to coincide with the implementation of the restructured representative-level examination program. FINRA will also announce the implementation date of the proposed rule change in a Regulatory Notice.

2. Statutory Basis

FINRA believes that the proposed revisions to the Series 79 examination program are consistent with the provisions of Section 15A(b)(6) of the Act,²¹ which requires, among other things, that FINRA rules must be designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest, and Section 15A(g)(3) of the Act,²² which authorizes FINRA to prescribe standards of training, experience, and competence for persons associated with FINRA members. The proposed rule change will improve the examination program, without compromising the qualification standards, by removing the general knowledge content currently covered on the Series 79 examination, since that content will be covered in the co-requisite SIE examination. In addition, the proposed revisions will further the purposes of the Act by updating the examination program to reflect changes to the laws, rules and regulations covered by the examination and to incorporate the functions and associated tasks currently performed by an Investment Banking Representative.

²⁰ Consistent with FINRA's practice of including "pretest" questions on examinations, the Series 79 examination includes 10 additional, unidentified pretest questions that do not contribute towards the candidate's score. The pretest questions are designed to ensure that new examination questions meet acceptable testing standards prior to use for scoring purposes. Therefore, the Series 79 examination actually consists of 85 questions, 75 of which are scored. The 10 pretest questions are randomly distributed throughout the examination.

²¹ 15 U.S.C. 78o-3(b)(6).

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

FINRA does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. The updated examination aligns with the functions and associated tasks currently performed by an Investment Banking Representative and tests knowledge of the most current laws, rules, regulations and skills relevant to those functions and associated tasks. As such, the proposed revisions would make the examination more effective. FINRA also provided a detailed economic impact assessment regarding the introduction of the SIE examination and the restructuring of the representative-level examinations as part of the proposed rule change to restructure the FINRA representative-level qualification examination program.²³

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

The foregoing rule change has become effective pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A) of the Act²⁴ and paragraph (f)(1) of Rule 19b-4 thereunder.²⁵ At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. If the Commission takes such action, the Commission shall institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule should be approved or disapproved.
