II. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, Nasdaq included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. Nasdaq has prepared summaries, set forth in Sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

Background

The National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. (“NASD”) created the PORTAL Market in 1990, simultaneously with the SEC’s adoption of Rule 144A, to be a new trading system for the purpose of quoting, trading, and reporting trades in securities deemed eligible for resale by Qualified Institutional Buyers under Rule 144A. Rule 144A provides an exemption from registration under Section 5 of the Securities Act for resales of privately placed securities to investors that meet the eligibility requirements of being a qualified institutional buyer (“QIB”) under Rule 144A(a)(1), i.e., institutional investors that in the aggregate own or invest on a discretionary basis at least $100 million in securities and broker/dealers that in the aggregate own or invest on a discretionary basis at least $10 million in securities. The PORTAL Market did not develop as anticipated. For many years, the sole function of the NASD related to the PORTAL market was to review whether an issue of privately placed securities met the eligibility requirements of Rule 144A, thereby qualifying the securities for DTC book-entry services.

The staff of Nasdaq has historically had responsibility for review of PORTAL applications to determine the eligibility of securities and, originally, PORTAL participants (including broker/dealers and investors). Upon the separation of Nasdaq from the NASD and the approval of Nasdaq as a registered national securities exchange under Section 6 of the Act, the review functions for PORTAL market eligibility were retained by Nasdaq and the PORTAL Market Rules in the NASD Rule 5300 Series became the Nasdaq Rule 6500 Series.9 The NASD continued, however, to regulate trading reporting for PORTAL-designated securities.

Since 1990, Nasdaq has designated over 26,000 equity and debt securities as being PORTAL-eligible. This designation process includes the submission and review of offering documents and memorandum related to the restricted nature of the security and the completion of a PORTAL market application form.

PORTAL Reference Database

As part of Nasdaq’s continuing efforts to enhance the transparency and efficiency of trading in Rule 144A issues, Nasdaq has created and intends to make publicly available, for a fee, a consolidated electronic reference database of information culled from PORTAL offering documents and applications submitted to Nasdaq since 1990. The database is fully electronic and allows users to determine, in addition to other information, a PORTAL issue’s name and offering description, CUSIP, country of incorporation, security class, maturity class and date, currency denomination, applicable interest and credit rating, convertibility and call provisions, total number of shares offered, and date of PORTAL designation. As new issues seek PORTAL designation, they too will be added to the database. Access to the database will open to all market participants.

As set forth in the proposed rule text, pricing for access to the database will be tiered based on the number of users authorized for access and the number of the years for which access is desired. There will be no pro-rating of these annual fees and all parties will pay a full year’s fee regardless of when they elect to seek access to the database. The total cost of access to the full database will, however, be capped based on the number of users at a particular firm. Nasdaq believes that this pricing structure will allow users to better align and control their costs of access with their data usage.

Nasdaq believes that PORTAL reference database will materially improve the availability of historical information about issuances of restricted equity and debt and provide a more reliable background upon which market participants can make investment decisions regarding such securities.

2. Statutory Basis

Nasdaq believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of Section 6 of the Act,\(^\text{10}\) in general, and with Section 6(b)(4) of the Act,\(^\text{11}\) in particular, in that it provides for the equitable allocation of reasonable dues, fees and other charges among members and issuers and other persons using any facility or system which Nasdaq operates or controls. Nasdaq notes that creation of the PORTAL reference database required the retrieval, organization, and review of hundreds of thousands of pages of hard-copy documents as well as the conversion of retrieved information into electronic form, and its subsequent importation into the database itself. In addition, the database also required programming an information entry and retrieval protocol. On an ongoing basis, Nasdaq will also incur hardware and software costs for the maintenance and storage of PORTAL reference data.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement on Burden on Competition

Nasdaq does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act, as amended.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received from Members, Participants, or Others

Written comments were neither solicited nor received.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Within 35 days of the date of publication of this notice in the Federal Register or within such longer period (i) as the Commission may designate up to 90 days of such date if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding or (ii) as to which the self-regulatory organization consents, the Commission will:

A. by order approve such proposed rule change, or

B. institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule change should be disapproved.
