

Charlotte Jones
Managing Director
Global Head of Accounting Policy Group
Deutsche Bank AG

Charlotte is the Global Head of Deutsche Bank's Accounting Policy Group (APG) which is responsible for developing the Bank's accounting policies, interpretations and application guidance under IFRS and U.S. GAAP. In addition, APG provides training and accounting advice to the Finance function and the businesses and is required to sign off on the accounting treatment of certain categories of transactions.

Charlotte was the project director for the Bank's IFRS conversion project and previously set up and ran the Bank's Global Valuation Group.

Charlotte joined Deutsche Bank in 2004 from Ernst & Young where she was a partner in the Banking and Capital Markets group responsible for audit and advisory services to a range of investment banking and corporate treasury clients.