

Samuel A. DiPiazza, Jr.
Global CEO
PricewaterhouseCoopers International

Since January of 2002, Sam DiPiazza has served as Global CEO of PricewaterhouseCoopers International, a global provider of industry-focused assurance, tax and advisory services for public and private clients. Prior to that he led PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, the US Firm, and served as part of the Global Leadership Team. Mr. DiPiazza began his career with PricewaterhouseCoopers in 1973.

Co-author of the book Building Public Trust: The Future of Corporate Reporting (2002), Mr. DiPiazza recently completed a three-year term as a Financial Accounting Foundation Trustee. He is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations' Committee on Corporate Affairs, a member of the US committee of the Trans-Atlantic Business Dialogue, a member of the International Business Leaders' Advisory Council for the Mayor of Shanghai, and serves on the Executive Committee of the World Business Council for Sustainable Development. Very active in civic affairs, Mr. DiPiazza is the Global Chairman of Junior Achievement Worldwide.